EXT. RAINA'S CURRENT CAMP AGAINST A TREE- DAY

Raina, a seventeen year old malnourished girl leans her back up against a tree. A look of defeat and failure is displayed on her face as her shoulders slump. Her fingernails are caked with dirt. Her tank top is dirty. Her shorts- held up with a belt- are ripped and hanging on by a thread. Her shoes have holes by the toes, and the bottoms are almost completely melted off.

Raina looks around the abandoned and dying surface. A small almost dead berry bush sits near her. Her face is dirty, sweaty, and her hair is pulled back, a hat on her head.

She stares up at the sun. A large chunk from the right corner explodes- breaking into smaller pieces as it falls through space.

The surface of the earth is tented red from the dying sun. There is dust in the air. Most of the plants are dead or burnt up. There is no noise, only the sound of Raina struggled breathing. The hair on her head that is visible sways slightly from the wind. The tree Raina is against is burnt, parts of the bark falling off.

Several holes in the ground are dug around Raina.

A backpack is propped against the tree, unzipped. A water bottle, granola bar, map, and teddy bear sit beside it. Stitched onto the stomach of the teddy bear is a R.

A small battery powered radio sits next to Raina. Connected are a pair of earbuds. An earbud sits in one of Raina's ears, while the other dangles next to her. Almost dead, the radio cuts in and out of the station. The woman speaking on the radio show sounds urgent but powerful.

Raina lifts her head up and stares at the glowing sky, listening to her dying radio.

Radio crackles again.

RADIO SHOW HOST (O.S)
...good luck.

Raina turns the radio off. She stands from the tree and walks around the surrounding area. She picks up small items she thinks might help her. She begins picking the few berries left to eat from the nearby bush.

Before eating them, she crushes a berry, rubbing it against her forearm. The berry stains her arm red. She waits a few seconds, her arm not changing. She then eats the berries.

While picking berries, Raina notices a small round rock, colored red from the smushed berries on it.

INT. RAINA AND ROWEN'S PARENT'S CAR- DAY (FLASHBACK)

Rowen, a small three year old with brown hair and hazel eyes sits in his car seat next to his older sister, Raina. His left hand holds a small rock, with a painted face on it. A baby blanket lays across his lap and a teddy bear with a stitched R on its stomach sits beside him.

Raina, a twelve year old with long brown hair, dark brown eyes, and a face full of freckles looks out the car window while holding Rowen's hand.

A police man sits in the front seat. He has age lines surrounding his face, his hair greying in spots. A child protective services lady sits in the passenger seat. She is a middle-aged lady, in a suit, with a clipboard in her lap.

The cop car finally stops in front of a run-down brown building in the middle of the city. Beat up tricycles and scooters lean against the entrance. Raina looks around with a sad face.

EXT. RAINA'S CURRENT CAMP AGAINST A TREE- DAY (END FLASHBACK)

Raina stops picking the berries, and picks up the stained rock. She gathers her remaining supplies and picks up a map. She holds a pen in her hand, and makes an x on the paper.

The map has x's, arrows, and circles scattered about the road names. The closest circle is labeled- Bunker #7 -. Bunkers 1-

Created using Celtx

6 are marked out. Eight circles decorate the map. Raina puts the map in her bag and pulls out a compass. She finds the correct direction towards the next bunker and begins walking.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Raina walks through the woods, occasionally brushing bare branches out of her way. It is SILENT, the only noise being her shoes along the dirt. Her eyes are squinted and sweat gathers around her face like a thick mask. Her hands and legs shake as she walks from dehydration.

Her head is constantly turning, surveying her surroundings. SNAPS OF TWIGS AND DEAD LEAVES make Raina jump every time she hears them. A small knife is in her right hand, her grip tight. In the distance ahead of her, the branches sway slightly, as the sound of broken twigs ECHO through the woods.

Raina's grip on her knife tightens, her knuckles turning white. She continues walking through the woods before finding the main road.

EXT. MAIN ROAD- LATE DAY

Raina steps out of the woods, using her arm to wipe sweat off her face. She moves to the side of the road, still close to the woods, adjusting her hat. She takes off her back pack, and pulls the map out from earlier, along with a compass.

Heat rises from the road in the distance. She checks the map to know what direction to go in, and then uses the compass. Once she finds the correct direction, she begins walking along the road. She puts her knife in her belt.

While walking, Raina hears FOOTSTEPS. The trees along the road sway. Raina stops walking, looks around and grabs her knife. The tree to the left sways. Raina quickly moves to squat behind a tree.

A woman, in her 50s, exits the woods. Her hair is graying, she wears torn sweatpants and a t-shirt. She carries nothing with her.

Raina turns into the woods, walking away. The woman coughs. Her cough is dry and rough. Raina pauses, turning around.

The woman stumbles onto the road, heavily breathing. Raina stares at the woman, tilting her head slightly. The woman walks slowly, limping slightly. Sweat covers her face and changes the color of her shirt.

Created using Celtx

Raina glances at the woman, before taking off her backpack. She pulls out a half-empty water bottle before standing up. Quietly, Raina walks in the woods alongside the road until she is parallel with the woman.

Raina moves closer to the road, water bottle in hand. As she is exiting the woods, FOOTSTEPS can be heard in the distance.

The woman turns around towards the sound, before waving her hands across her face.

WOMAN
(yells)
Help!

Raina's face cringes. She immediately retreats into the woods, still able to see the interaction. A group of THREE PEOPLE carrying a large tote approach from a distance.

The girl carrying the tote, SAM, leaves the bag behind catching up to NOAH and JEREMY. Sam is a small girl, short and stumpy. Her auburn hair is braided behind her. She looks cleaner than most, clothes barely ripped.

Jeremy leads the group. He is brute looking- a long beard, cut up face, and bloody knuckles. He is older, mid-50s, a few wrinkles decorate his face and gray washes through his hair in areas. He wears a dog tag around his neck.

Noah walks behind Jeremy. He is skinny and tall. He wears no shirt, only shorts. Tattoos cover his chest and arms. Multiple knives are strapped around his waist.

The tote left behind is filled with supplies. Multiple boxes of granola bars, cans of food, and water. Towards the front are bandages, rubbing alcohol, and rope.

Raina watches the group approach the woman, quickly standing up and opening her backpack. She watches the group for a moment. She puts the water bottle back in before quietly walking to the tote.

She begins quickly grabbing boxes and cans, whatever she can get her hands on. While grabbing supplies, Raina hears running and screaming. She looks up to see the old woman trip and fall, the group surrounding her.

Raina hears LAUGHING before the sound of a foot making contact with a stomach and a grunt ECHOS through the air. Raina sucks in a breath, grabbing a box of granola bars. She begins zipping up her bag as FOOTSTEPS sound through the air.

JEREMY
(yells)
Hey!

Raina looks up, seeing the group running towards her. Raina throws her backpack on, running quickly into the woods. Noah follows behind as Jeremy and Sam stay at the tote.

Raina runs, breathing heavily, as she takes random turns through the woods. While running, Raina glances behind her. Noah is seen in the distance running.

Raina looks forward, sharply turning to the right. Her arm scrapes against a tree branch, blood dripping. Raina keeps running, going further into the thick forrest.

Raina mazes through the forrest, running between trees. It's dark and quiet- besides Raina's BREATHING. The trees are dense, no light coming through.

Footsteps are no longer heard behind Raina. She glances back, Noah not in sight. Raina slows down to a jog, going around a few more trees, before coming to a stop. She puts her hands on her knees, catching her breath.

Standing up straight, she looks behind her again before looking down at her arm. Blood drips down to her forearm, a gash on her biceps. Raina tears off a piece of the bottom of her tank top.

She wraps it around the gash, using her teeth to tie it in a knot. She grunts when she tightens the cloth. She lets out a breath, holding her knife and walking, maneuvering through the trees.

After walking for a few seconds, Raina pulls out the water bottle, and empties the rest of it into her mouth, shaking it slightly to get all the water out. She puts it back into her bag, her hand lingering on the teddy bear as she takes a deep breath.

EXT. WOODS- NIGHT

While walking Raina hears a BRANCH SNAP. She jumps, eyes widening in fear. She looks around before grabbing her knife, holding it tight. Another BRANCH SNAPS, Raina begins breathing faster, she makes quick movements looking around.

A few feet away from her, branches move. Raina holds her knife in front of her, taking deep breaths to calm herself down. A small black blur runs across in front of Raina's feet. She jumps in surprise.

She kicks her foot in front of her, making contact with the small animal. The animal gets pushed a few feet away from her, and Raina quickly takes a couple steps back.

She lets out a breath, shoulders dropping, as she sees the animal is only a small squirrel. Raina laughs at herself, before putting her knife away and crouching down.

She takes her backpack off, pulling out a granola bar. She breaks a corner off and holds it in her palm. She extends her hand forward.

The squirrel slowly walks up to Raina's hand, sniffing the food. Raina smiles, gently nudging her hand forward. It quickly grabs the food with its hands before scurrying away.

Raina stands up, wiping her hands on her legs, putting the remaining granola bar away, before continuing forward.

EXT. WOODS- NIGHT

Raina pushes the bare branches out of her way once again, her eyes searching the area around her as she quickly tries to find the water supply.

A LOW GROWL ECHOS through the air while Raina is walking. She immediately freezes, and looks around. She holds the knife tightly in her hand, a little in front of her. She slowly turns in a circle, eyes darting back and forth.

The trees to her left roughly move, as branches snap. Raina quickly turns to her left, pointing the knife towards the trees. A small shadow runs, as Raina steps backwards.

She turns to run as the animal runs across the ground towards her. The animal jumps onto Raina's back, GROWLING, and tugging at her backpack.

Raina YELPS and tries to fling the animal off of her. She shakes her body, trying to turn around to throw the animal, but it hangs on. She forcefully throws her shoulders forward to the ground as her backpack comes off over her head.

A raccoon is viscously shaking its head with her backpack in its mouth.

RAINA
(whispers)
Go away.

Raina walks towards the raccoon and gently kicks it, glaring at the animal. It GROWLS at her, slowly crawling closer. Raina kicks it again, harder, before it runs into the woods.

She picks up her backpack, HUFFING, before walking again.

After walking through the woods for a few seconds, the trees give way, and Raina sees a small river with a few small waterfalls created by large rocks.

EXT. RIVER- NIGHT

She quickly runs up to the river and drops to her knees. Raina hastily takes off her bag and pulls out her five empty water bottles before she begins to fill them up with the water. After filling them up, she takes her hat off, and dips her hands in the water, scooping some up and splashing it on her face.

The sound of RUNNING WATER fills the air, drowning out the sound of Raina's breathing. Raina grabs the teddy bear from her bag, sitting it beside her. She looks around the area, her shoulders relaxing.

RAINA
(whispers)
We still have a long way.

Raina glances at the teddy bear, propping its drooping head up.

RAINA
(whispers)
Maybe it'll be there.

Raina looks at her hands sighing deeply in sadness. She looks up at the river before shaking her head and straightening her shoulders.

RAINA
(whispers)
It's gonna be there.

Raina grabs onto the teddy bear, looking up at the sky.

Created using Celtx

Suddenly, the earth shakes slightly. A small, dead tree falls nearby. Raina holds onto the bear, covering her head until the earthquake stops.

Raina lets out a breath, looking back up at the sky. Multiple shooting stars flash across the sky, some large and some small. Raina stands up.

EXT. MAIN ROAD- NIGHT

Raina exits the forest and continues on the side of the main road. While walking, she pulls out the compass and map from her backpack to make sure she is going the right way. She also pulls out her water to drink. She continues walking at a fast pace.

While walking she passes small signs in the ground with different sayings. One says Local Bunker 5 miles away. The second says The End Is Coming. And the third says Jesus Saves. All the signs are worn-down, the paint chipping and the wood rotting.

INT. CHURCH- DAY (FLASHBACK)

Raina sits in the pew in church, Rowen sitting next to her. Her parents sit beside them, dressed in nice clothes. Her mother struggles to keep her eyes open, her pupils large. Her father's head is leaned back, snores coming out of his mouth.

Rowen's stomach GROWLS and he looks up at Raina, who stares back with a sad face.

PREACHER
(passionate)
And when we sin, we must repent.

EXT. MAIN ROAD- NIGHT (END FLASHBACK)

Raina scoffs at the Jesus Saves sign, and rolls her eyes. She grabs a small rock from nearby and throws it at the sign, the rock bounces off the wood and falls next to it.

After some time, Raina gets tired of walking and sits down on the side of the road, shaded by a bush. She puts her backpack down and grabs the small rock from inside. She looks around, closing her eyes every now and then.

She looks at the map of bunkers. Bunker number six is crossed out. Two bunkers remain untouched. A small town is located nearby on the map. She gathers her things and starts walking again.

Created using Celtx

She stares up at the sky. The moon is orange from the sun. Only a few stars can be seen.

EXT. SMALL CITY- DAY

While walking to the next bunker on her map, Raina passes a small welcome sign for the local town called Sunny Springs. She pauses at the sign, looking around. She walks into the town. Only a few buildings populate the area. To the right is a small dirt road, with three houses lined against it. The first house is burnt and falling apart.

Raina walks towards the dirt road, adjusting her hat. Raina stops walking in front of the second house. It's small, white siding that is rotten and turning green from mold. A broken wire fence surrounds the front of the house. The windows are broken, like someone threw rocks into them.

INT. RUN DOWN HOUSE- DAY

Raina takes a deep breath before stepping over the broken fence and walking up to the house. She grips the knife in her hand, holding her map in the other, and opens the front door quietly. She walks in, looking around for danger.

The hallway to the living room is lined with trash. Raina walks into the living room. The couch is lined with blankets and pillows. Bottles of water sit next to it on the floor, along with wrappers from granola bars and cans from beans. She sets her map and knife down on a counter, using both hands to scavenge through the trash.

A LOUD CREAK is heard from behind Raina. Raina's face pales and her eyes get wide. She jumps and turn around. Jeremy and Noah stand behind Raina, Sam behind the two men. They hold knives.

Quickly, Raina turns and grabs her map and knife, running, opening the backdoor that is nearby and running into the yard. The men run after her, their footsteps pounding against the floor.

Raina roughly jumps over the broken fence, back onto the dirt road, and runs without looking back. The men keep chasing her.

JEREMY
Hey!

Raina ignores him and turns right from the dirt road, back onto pavement. She keeps running, not looking back, the men chasing her stop at the end of the dirt road.

Created using Celtx

INT. GAS STATION- DAY

While running, Raina looks to her left and sees a rundown gas station. A large sign displaying the name 'Big Billy's Gas Station' is in the front. A thermometer is attached to the sign, the temperature past the limit of 120.

She turns to run towards it. She quickly opens the door, slamming it behind her, and runs to the middle of an aisle. She crouches down, hands on her knees, as she breathes heavily, chest moving up and down quickly.

Jeremy, Sam, and Noah are seen through the glass doors, walking past the gas station, looking around. She falls back on the floor, and holds her head in her hands. Her hands shake and she drops the knife besides her, relaxing her body for a moment.

INT. GAS STATION- DAY

The refrigerators are empty, the lights turned off and the glass dirty. On the floor at the end of the aisle is a box of crackers. Raina quickly walks up to it, picking it up and shaking it. A few crumbs fall out of the empty container.

RAINA
Dammit.

Raina throws it to the ground in frustration, kicking it away from her. She leans against the refrigerator doors and slowly slides to the ground. Her eyes swell with tears as she bites her lip. She takes a deep shaky breath with her eyes closed.

A LOUD DRAGGING METAL sounds throughout the gas station. Raina snaps her head up, grabbing her knife.

She stands up, quietly and quickly walking towards the doors. She passes the checkout counter by the doors and stops moving. Raina stands still, her eyes looking around.

A small head of curly blonde hair slowly raises from behind the counter. Pale blue eyes stare at Raina. The boy is small. Dirt covers his face. His feet are bare, covered in red blisters. A dirty baby blanket lays across his shoulders, a corner of it squeezed in his right hand.

Raina stares back at the child.

Created using Celtx

INT. ORPHANAGE- DAY (FLASHBACK)

Raina sits in the waiting room of the orphanage. The director, MRS. GENIE, sits next to Raina, rubbing her back. A HUSBAND and WIFE walk out from a hallway.

The wife wears a diamond necklace, her hair nicely pulled back into a bun. A large diamond ring sits on her left ring finger. She wears heels and a nice blouse. A man is on her left. His hair is gelled, beard nicely manicured. He wears a suit with perfectly shined shoes. On his left wrist is a watch.

Rowen stands in front of the couple. His baby blanket wrapped around his shoulders like a cape. A suitcase is sitting next to him.

INT. GAS STATION- DAY (END FLASHBACK)

Raina walks closer to the counter, the child backs away.

RAINA
Hey, it's okay. I'm not going to hurt you.

Raina puts the knife down on the counter and holds her hands up in surrender. She slowly walks behind the counter, before crouching down so she was eye level with the child. The small boy backs away to the corner, not being able to move back any farther.

RAINA
My name is Raina, what's your name?

The boy stares at Raina, gripping his blanket to his chest.

Raina stays in place, not getting any closer.

RAINA
It's okay. I don't wanna hurt you.

The small boy stays put, making eye contact with Raina before looking away, his hands buried in his baby blanket.

CHILD
Jack.

RAINA
What an awesome name. Where are your parents?

Created using Celtx

Raina smiles at the child, gently moving closer to him. Jack stares at Raina. Raina furrows her brows.

Jack shrugs his shoulders, putting his baby blanket against his face. Raina looks around behind the counter. A pillow and blanket sit in the corner. A scribbled on coloring book with crayons is on the floor to the left of the makeshift bed. The cabinet under the register is open, a few empty bags of chips, an empty water bottle, and a flashlight sit inside.

Raina glances out the windows, seeing Jeremy and Noah walking by. Quickly, Raina tugs Jack down by the arm, crouching behind the counter. Raina holds her finger to her lips towards Jack.

Jeremy and Noah walk by the gas station, heads looking into the window. They slow down in front of the building, pressing their heads against the glass to see inside. When they do not see anyone, they continue walking, going back to the house.

Raina sighs before sitting all the way down. She takes off her backpack and opens it, grabbing her the broken granola bar. She holds it out the Jack, smiling at him.

Raina hums, unwrapping the granola bar and taking a bite of it.

RAINA
Mmmm. Yummy.

Raina waves the granola bar in front of Jack again. He slowly moves towards her, carefully grabbing the granola bar and taking a small bite. He closes his eyes while chewing before smiling at Raina.

Raina giggles, grabbing a water bottle from her bag and handing it to Jack. The boy gently grabs the bottle and drinks.

RAINA
Hey, hey slow down buddy. You're gonna make yourself sick.

Raina takes the now empty bottle from Jack and watches him as he hiccups before burping slightly. He sits in front of Raina, blanket in his arms, as he stares at her. Raina smiles at him, turning her head.

RAINA
Did you draw this? I bet you'll be the next Picasso.

Raina picks up a piece of paper near Jack's bed. Jack tilts his head to the side, a confused look on his face. Three orange stick figures stand on grass, the smallest on in the middle. The boy roughly stands up and grabs the paper from Raina's hands, hugging it to his chest and sitting on his bed.

Raina moves back slightly, giving Jack space. She analyzes his movements, watching as he gently places the picture under his pillow. She smiles and searches through her bag. She grabs a folded up drawing, unfolding it and moving close to Jack.

She places the drawing at the end of his bed, placing her head down in her hands.

RAINA
This is my favorite drawing. The big one is me and the little one is my brother.

Jack inches closer to Raina, focusing on the drawing in front of him. The stick figures are outlined in purple crayon, and the sun is in yellow. Jack places his small hand on the paper and looks up at Raina.

RAINA
I do have to say though, your drawing is a close second. The purple sun is very creative.

Jack smiles, pushing the paper towards Raina who folds it back and places it in her backpack. She moves closer to him, holding out her hand, her palm facing he ceiling. Jack stares at her, glancing between her face and her hand.

He slowly places his hand on top of hers, gripping his baby blanket with the other. Raina smiles at him, holding his hand. She squeezes his hand before standing up.

She opens her bag, pulling out two water bottles and a granola bar. She places the food and water on top of Jack's bed. She glances at Jack, who is standing behind her. She takes a deep breath with her eyes closed. She moves back, away from Jack's bed.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
Can I stay here tonight?

Jack makes eye contact, slightly nodding his head yes. Raina lets out a sigh of relief, smiling. A rope holds a sign above the checkout counter, reading 'Quickest Checkout Around'. Raina walks to the sign, pulling out her knife and cutting the sign down. She ties the rope around the door handles, securing the doors shut.

There is a metal kiosk next to the doors. Raina pushes the kiosk in front of the doors, struggling to move the metal.

She walks back to Jack, sitting on the floor. Jack colors with his crayons. Raina smiles before laying down. She stares at the ceiling, listening to Jack's coloring until she falls asleep, the teddy bear tucked into her arm.

Jack moves closer to Raina as she sleeps. He quietly opens her backpack, pulling things out one by one. He pulls out her water bottles and empty food boxes. He pulls out the drawing and places it next to Raina. He finds the map, pulling it out and looking at it. He throws it on the floor and keeps searching. Jack grabs the rock in Raina's bag, turning it in his hands.

The rock is stained red. Jack stares confusingly, holding the rock up to his face. He stands up, walking to his bed, and sits down. He places his baby blanket on his lap before picking up his crayons. He tries to color on the rock, faint blue lines coating the surface. He places the rock next to him, laying down with his blanket pulled to his face. He falls asleep.

INT. GAS STATION- DAY

The next morning, Raina wakes up calmly. Her eyes open and she stretches her arms above her head. She sits up, seeing her backpack is open. She stands up, grabbing her backpack. She furrows her eyebrows when she realizes her things are scattered around the floor.

She picks up the water bottles, empty boxes, and the drawing. She finds the map on the floor, huffing in annoyance before putting it in her bag.

She rummages through her bag, noticing her rock is gone. She looks around the floor before seeing it next to Jack. She quietly picks it up. She places two granola bars and a bottle of water next to Jack. She moves away from the sleeping child.

Created using Celtx

She rubs her thumb across the blue wax on the rock, rubbing the color off. She puts the rock back into her bag before walking towards the doors.

She pushes the kiosk away. She cringes, squeezing her eyes shut when the metal scrapes across the floor. She glances behind her to see if Jack woke up. She can't see him, so she continues pushing the kiosk.

After moving it from the doors, she unties the rope. Raina opens one of the doors. Stepping outside, she turns around to quietly shut the door. When she turns around, her eyes meet Jack who is standing in the doorway. His baby blanket is wrapped around his shoulders, his hair disheveled from sleeping.

JACK
Are you leaving?

Raina slumps her shoulders, looking down at her feet. Jack stares at her, his eyes becoming glossy with tears. His bottom lip shakes, a small whimper breaking the silence. Raina looks up, eyes meeting the crying face of Jack.

She steps closer to him, closing the door behind her and crouching down to eye level. She places her hands on his shoulders, her right hand brushing his hair out of his face.

RAINA
I need to keep going, buddy. I can't stay here.

Jack ignores Raina, continuing to cry. His mouth is open, baby teeth on display as he cries. His nose runs, his eyelashes wet with tears.

RAINA
Jack, you have a good place here. It's too scary out there for a little boy.

Raina lifts Jack's chin up so he is looking at her. He continues crying, walking up to Raina until his head is pressed against her shoulder. He wraps his arms around her. She wraps her arms around him, rubbing his back.

RAINA
Hey, hey, it's okay.

JACK
I'm not little. I'm a big boy.

Created using Celtx

Raina laughs quietly holding Jack close. He stops crying, holding his blanket in his left arm. Raina pulls him away, holding him at arms length. She closes her eyes and sighs.

RAINA
Do you wanna come with me?

Jack eyes light up as he quickly nods his head, sniffling. Raina nods and smiles before standing up. She motions her head to inside.

RAINA
Go get your stuff.

She waits by the doors, watching Jack run behind the counter. She can hear him moving things around before he walks back around. He carries his crayons, paper, pillow, and his baby blanket is tied around his shoulders.

Raina takes his crayons and paper from him, putting them in her backpack. She grabs the pillow and puts it on the floor, shaking her head no.

RAINA
Alright Jack. You need to make sure you're quiet and do everything I say. Understand?

Jack nods his head. Raina puts the backpack on and nods at Jack before walking out the doors, the small boy following.

EXT. SMALL CITY- DAY

Jack walks quickly to keep up with Raina. His small hand is incased by Raina's hand, helping drag him down the road. Raina looks ahead, focusing on getting to a bunker.

The two walk along the side of the road, sweat dripping down their faces. Jack's face is red, a few small blisters forming on his face. Raina's face is covered with new and old blisters. Her lips dry and cracked. Jack winces every time his feet hit the ground.

Trees move behind the pair, going unnoticed by them. Jack tugs at Raina's hand, looking up at her.

JACK
Where are we going?

Raina holds her finger up to her lips, looking down at Jack.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
(whispers)
A safe place.

JACK
(whispers)
Are we following your treasure map?

Raina nods her head.

JACK
(whipsers)
My feet hurt.

Raina frowns, glancing at his feet but not saying anything. Jack swings his arm attached to Raina, and giggles when she swings his arm- lifting him off the ground slightly.

They reach the end of the town, the 'Thank You For Visiting' sign on their right. Raina pulls out her compass and her map, checking if she is going the right way.

She continues walking straight, pulling Jack along. FOOTSTEPS can be heard behind them. Raina grips her knife, quickly turning around. Jack moves behind Raina, holding onto her shirt.

The trees in the woods next to them sway. It's silent, Raina's heavy breathing the only thing heard.

A twig SNAPS from the woods. Raina grabs Jack's hand and starts running. Jack stumbles over his feet, his bare feet bleeding from the rough hot surface.

Raina turns into the woods on the other side of the road, yanking Jack's arm so he is close to her. They run deep into the woods, the road fading behind them.

JACK
(out of breath)
Stop running.

Raina slows down and glances at Jack, his feet are bleeding and blisters are formed on his face. He is breathing heavy, a RASPY and WHEEZY inhale.

Raina takes off her backpack, placing it on Jack's back. Raina crouches down, facing away from him.

RAINA
Come on, we need to go.

Created using Celtx

Jack jumps onto Raina's back, wrapping his arms around her neck. She stands up, no longer running but walking at a quick pace. Jack rests his head on her shoulder.

EXT. WOODS- NIGHT

Raina and Jack sit against a tree, Jack leaning against Raina. His eyes struggle to stay open, blinking longer each time. Jack's stomach growls, making Raina look down at him.

She opens her backpack, looking for granola bars. She closes her eyes and sighs, dropping her hands onto her lap. Jack looks up at her, smiling.

JACK
It's okay.

Raina smiles at him. Jack sits peacefully in the woods, tired from walking. Raina stays alert, looking around. She pulls out the radio and places a headphone in her ear. Static runs through the headphones. She tries adjusting the frequency, but no radio station can be heard clearly.

Her hands rest in her lap, her head dropped down. She lets out a frustrated sigh, looking around the woods in fear. Jack looks at her with a confused face.

RAINA
(whispers)
We need to get back to the road.

The ground shakes slightly, swaying the trees back and forth. Jack instantly sits up, moving close to Raina who sits with her arms out. Raina looks up at the sky, the sun large and orange.

Raina stands up. She wipes her hands on her sides, grabbing her backpack.

RAINA
Come on.

Jack puts the backpack on his back before jumping onto Raina's back. The pair walk through the woods. Raina grips a knife in her hand, alert about every noise.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Raina yawns, the road coming into view. She glances at Jack, his eyes closed as he sleeps against her shoulder. She decides to go to the right on the road.

Created using Celtx

A few abandoned cars lay in the ditch next to the road. Raina walks up to one, looking in through the window. Trash fills the car. She moves to the next car, the tires flat. Nothing is in the car. Raina goes to the last car, nothing inside. She opens the door, before going around to the back and opening the door.

She gently lays Jack in the backseat, careful to not wake him up. She goes back to the front seat, trying to turn the key to start the car. She turns the key, the car spitting but not starting. She tries again. Nothing. She tries another time- still nothing happening.

Raina hits her hands on the steering wheel, resting her head back on the headrest with her eyes close. Jack can be seen sitting up from the rearview mirror, rubbing his eyes with his blanket.

Raina lets a tear of frustration from her eye as she breathes heavily. Jack crawls onto Raina's lap from the back seat. He faces her, furrowing his eyebrows. He gently wipes away Raina's tears before hugging her.

Raina smiles, laughing quietly, and rubs Jack's back. She looks down at him.

RAINA
We should get going.

Jack nods, opening the car door and jumping down. Raina follows, grabbing his hand and walking. She pulls her map out along with her compass. Her finger lands 3/4 of the way to bunker number 7. A town is located half a mile away.

EXT. SMALL TOWN- DAY

Raina and Jack enter the town, only a few buildings in site. A neighborhood of houses surround the area. Raina drags Jack next to her, walking towards a two story house with dirt covered yellow siding.

She opens the door, Jack close behind her. She walks in, carefully looking around for people and animals.

Jack walks away from Raina into the kitchen. He begins opening cabinets, looking around at what is in them.

Raina hears the noise. She instantly holds her knife in front of her and reaches for Jack, only to notice he is not there. Fear covers Raina's face as she panics.

RAINA
Jack!

Raina turns quickly, trying to locate the boy. She hears BANGING OF PANS from the kitchen. She breaths quickly as she quietly walks to the kitchen.

RAINA
Jack, don't do that.

Jack is seen sitting on the floor, a pot on top of his head and a pan next to him on the floor. He looks up at Raina with a smile. Raina roughly takes the pot off his head.

RAINA
It's not funny.

Jack looks at her with sad eyes, his arms crossing over his chest. Raina roughly grabs his arm and pulls him up. Raina opens the cabinets, sighing in frustration every time she opens a cabinet without food.

Raina and Jack walk upstairs. Raina opens every door, relaxing when no one is in the house. She brings Jack into a large room.

A bed sits in the center of the room with no blankets on it. The chair and dresser are laying on their sides like someone threw them.

Raina picks Jack up, setting him down on the bed. She brushes his hair back before wrapping him in his baby blanket. She lays him down on the bed, laying next to him.

JACK
What are we going to do tomorrow?

Raina tenses, her body going rigid. She hesitates before turning her head towards Jack.

RAINA
Whatever you want to do.

Jack giggles at her, turning onto his side.

JACK
When this is over you and me can get a puppy.

Raina stares at Jack with sad eyes. She lays still, not responding to Jack.

Created using Celtx

JACK
I like the big yellow fluffy dogs but Mommy always said no.

Jack looks at Raina, his face waiting for a response. Raina turns her head back to the ceiling, no longer looking at Jack. Jack's eyebrows pull together as his bottom lip sticks out.

JACK
What doggy do you want, Raina?

Raina turns away from Jack, facing the wall. Her eyes stare at the white wall, a distant look on her face. Jack sits up, pushing Raina's shoulder.

JACK
What's wrong?

Raina sighs, not moving.

RAINA
Jack, you know I can't stay with you, right?

Jack turns rigid, not moving in his spot. His head tilts to the side and his eyes fill with tears.

JACK
Why not?

Raina turns over, facing Jack now and sitting up.

RAINA
It's not safe. I can't protect both of us.

Jack starts crying, hugging his baby blanket to himself. Raina stands up, a tear falling down her face. She stands at the end of the bed.

JACK
Please don't. Don't leave.

Raina looks at Jack with tears in her eyes.

INT. RAINA AND ROWEN'S CHILDHOOD HOME- DAY (FLASHBACK)

Raina stands in the hallway of her house by the front door. A cell phone is in her hand by her leg. Rowen stands next to her. Two police officers and a child protective service lady stand in the doorway. The police officers flash their badges, the lady doing the same.

Raina's father, an older, overweight man begins raising his voice, gesturing his hands to his kids. The mother, a middle-aged blonde woman begins crying.

FATHER
(yelling)
We aren't neglecting them!

Raina picks Rowen up. The police officers put the mother and father in hand cuffs. The child protective service lady gently moves to Raina, motioning the two out of the door. She guides them into the police care. Raina stares at her parents in the cop car beside them, Rowen sitting in her arms.

ROWEN
Mommy!

Rowen cries, his sobs LOUD in Raina's ears. Tears fall down her face as she holds Rowen close, trying to calm him.

INT. HOUSE- DAY (END FLASHBACK)

Jack continues crying as Raina walks towards the window. She rubs her face.

RAINA
I'm not leaving, Jack. Not yet. I'm gonna find you a safe place.

Raina walks out the bedroom door, closing it behind her. Jack's cries muffle, but they can still be heard. Raina walks down the stairs, going towards the front door.

She takes her hat off, letting down her hair. She runs her hands through her hair, letting out a sigh. She lifts her head up, staring at the ceiling. She takes a deep breath. She puts her hair back into the hat. She pulls her map out, the bunker only three miles away.

She puts her face against the frosted window next to the door. Outside, three blurry figures can be seen walking down the street.

They group walks into a house nearby. Raina waits for a moment, her breathing quick. The group comes back out of the house before going into the house next to it.

Raina quickly backs away from the door, fear evident on her face. She moves to a large window in the house that isn't frosted. She watches the group walk out of the other house.

Raina's mouth drops open as her face fills with realization.

RAINA
Shit.

Raina turns around, running towards the backdoor. She hesitates, her hand hovering over the handle as she squeezes her eyes shut.

Jack's sobs ECHO through the house. She quickly turns around and runs up the stairs, barging into Jack's room.

RAINA
Come on, we need to go now.

Jack looks up at Raina, his red watery eyes widening. He quickly nods his head, holding onto his baby blanket and jumping off the bed to Raina.

Jack jumps onto Raina's back and she runs down the stairs to the back door. Raina stops running once they're outside. She stands behind the house, slowly leaning her head out to see the street.

The group of people walk into the house across the street from Raina. Raina runs, holding onto Jack tight. She runs into the woods behind the house, not stopping until she can no longer see the neighborhood through the trees.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Jack walks beside Raina, holding her hand, the other hand holding onto his blanket. His feet are red, bare around the bottoms. He looks up at Raina, eyes locked on the bloody cloth tied around her arm. He points at it.

JACK
(whispers)
What happened?

Raina glances at her arm before looking at Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
A tree attacked me.

Jack giggles loudly, a smile plastered across his face. Raina quickly holds her finger to her lips, freezing in place. Jack stops laughing and stares at Raina.

Created using Celtx

The pair stare at each other before Jack giggles again, this time quieter. Raina smiles, laughing quietly at Jack. She ruffles his hair before walking again.

Jack yawns, squeezing his eyes shut. He wraps his blanket around his head, dragging his feet behind him. Raina looks down at him.

JACK
(whispers)
Can we sleep yet?

Raina looks around, a large tree sits to the left of them, covered in thick branches.

RAINA
(whispers)
Can you climb that tree?

Jack quickly nods his head, walking over to the tree. Raina laces her hands together, holding them at the base of the tree. Jack puts his foot in her hands, pushing himself up.

Raina helps Jack climb up the tree to the third branch, cautious to not let him fall. Once they are high enough, Raina pulls out a rope, tying it around Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
Where did you learn to climb a tree like that?

JACK
(whispers)
Daddy taught me.

Raina nods, holding her teddy bear in her hands. She tilts her head at Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
How did you end up alone?

Jack doesn't answer. He plays with his baby blanket in his hands, avoiding Raina's glances. Raina reaches out and gently touches Jack's arm.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
(whispers)
It's okay.

Jack doesn't look up, his body jerks slightly as he sniffles. Raina rubs her thumb against his arm. Their heads snap to the right, a small bunny hops along the ground, looking for food. Raina smiles at the animal, looking to Jack.

Jack stares at Raina. She nods her head pointing to the bunny on the ground, Jack stares in awe, smiling.

RAINA
(whispers)
I miss my family too. I'd do anything to get my brother back.

Jack stares at his hands, coughing quietly.

JACK
(whispers)
Where is he?

RAINA
(whispers)
He's with a new family now.

Raina places her teddy bear in Jack's hands.

RAINA
(whispers)
That was Rowen's. Dad took me to get it for him when he was born. It still smells like him.

Jack plays with the bear in his hands, brushing its fur around. He glances up at Raina, tears in his eyes.

JACK
(whispers)
There were bad guys, like the ones we ran from earlier. Daddy tried to talk to them, but then he fell down and mommy told me to run.

RAINA
(whispers)
So you ran to the gas station?

Jack nods his head.

JACK
(whispers)
I was waiting for Mommy.

A tear falls down Jack's cheek, Raina wipes it off.

RAINA
(whispers)
We're gonna be okay, buddy. We don't need anyone, I promise. We're better on our own.

Jack nods his head slightly, leaning back onto Raina, holding onto the teddy bear and his blanket. Jack glances down to the ground. Two deers stand in the woods a few trees away from them, grazing on the few leaves and bushes left.

Jack moves slightly, trying to get a better view of the deer. They glance up at Raina and Jack, freezing in their spots. Jack moves his hand, propping himself forward to see the animals. The deer stare back before quickly running off.

Raina rubs her thumb across his arm before falling asleep.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Raina and Jack sleep in the tree. RYKER approaches under the tree, looking up at Raina. He kicks the trunk of the tree, startling Raina and Jack awake.

A group of people enter the woods, walking up to the tree. A tall, muscular man with light brown hair turns and looks at Raina. She grabs Jack, leaning closer to the tree. He smiles and waves. He turns to the rest of the group, nodding at them.

Raina looks at him. She looks around at the rest of the group, noticing people of all ages. Some are older, some are her age, and some are children. Raina timidly meets the eyes of the stranger and slightly opens her mouth, deciding if she should speak or not.

The man approaches her casually, swinging his arms back and forth. His hair is long, pulled back with a hat. He has on beat up boots, shorts, and a dirty blue t-shirt. A knife is strapped against his chest.

RYKER
It's okay.

Created using Celtx

RYKER
(alien impression)
We come in peace.

RYKER
I'm Ryker.

RYKER
We haven't ran into other people lately, been looking for water.

Raina nods her head, eyebrows raising slightly at Ryker's comment. The grip on her knife does not falter.

RYKER
Hey little guy.

Jack stares down at Ryker, moving slightly closer to Raina.

Ryker looks at her. He glances back to the group he was traveling with, before looking back at her.

RYKER
I've been helping them look for a bunker.

Raina glances down to the ground, loosening her grip on her knife, and fiddling with the straps on her backpack. She then looks past Ryker, towards the group of people. The two young children run around the woods, playing a game of tag while the adults watch them.

INT. PLAY ROOM IN THE ORPHANAGE- DAY (FLASHBACK)

Raina sits alone in the far corner of the play room, quietly coloring in a book. A large group of kids are playing a game of duck duck goose in the center of the room. Raina ignores the group of kids, being the only one not playing the game. As she picks up another crayon, a small red-head, named PIPER, walks up to her.

PIPER
Why are you sitting alone?

Raina shrugs her shoulders, not looking up from her drawing.

PIPER
Need a friend?

Raina shakes her head no before continuing to color.

EXT. RIVER- NIGHT (END FLASHBACK)

One of the children giggles, Raina looks at them, slightly smiling. Raina nods her head towards the children behind Ryker.

RAINA
There's kids with you.

RYKER
There's a kid with you.

Raina huffs. Raina looks at the group of people.

RYKER
We've been searching for water for days.

RAINA
You already said that.

RYKER
We've been going town to town, most of the stores are picked over. Got lucky at some random farm house. The world really does look like a zombie movie. It's crazy. Where were you before all of this?

Raina stares at Ryker, widening her eyes in sarcasm.

RAINA
Dayview Avenue.

RYKER
That's a rough area.

RAINA
You?

RYKER
Wandering house to house, job to job. Couldn't keep anything stable.

Raina grips her knife, holding tightly onto Jack, glaring at Ryker. Jack sits stiffly in Raina's arms.

RAINA
How'd you find us?

Created using Celtx

RYKER
Stumbled across your tree bed. You guys are pretty close to a bunker you know. You could come with us, hopefully find the stupid thing.

RAINA
What, do you have a map?

RYKER
I wish. Charlie worked for one of the bunker companies.

Jack sits up, curiously looking at Ryker.

JACK
Raina has a treasure map.

Raina tenses, quickly looking at Jack with a glare. Jack freezes, realizing he shouldn't have said anything.

RYKER
Oh really? What's the treasure?

RAINA
Very funny.

RYKER
So how does one acquire this treasure map?

RAINA
You make it.

RYKER
Blunt. You know, most people tend to enjoy my witt.

RAINA
Do you need something? You're drawing attention to us.

RYKER
It's fine. I can fight 'em off.

Ryker flexes his arms, making fake punching motions in the air. Raina rolls her eyes, however, Jack giggles at Ryker. Ryker smiles up at Jack.

RYKER
Come on down. We hit the jack pot at that house. Breakfast of champions.

Created using Celtx

Raina stares at Ryker. Jack looks at Raina, his eyes pleading. He nudges Raina's arm before pointing down at Ryker.

JACK
(whispers)
Please?

Raina lets out a breath, shutting her eyes, before untying her and Jack. The two climb down the tree, turning towards Ryker as they get to the ground.

Ryker brings them to his group. Five people sit eating cans of beans. Two kids, JULIE and LIAM, around Jack's age, their parents, JAMES and ANNA, and an older man, CHARLIE, in his late sixties.

Ryker hands Raina a can of beans and she immediately hands it to Jack. Ryker rolls his eyes before handing another can of beans to Raina. She uses the tab on the can to peel the lid off.

They all eat in silence. Jack stares at the other kids as he eats, while Ryker stares at Raina.

CHARLIE

Raina looks up at the old man, smiling slightly.

JAMES
You're the biggest liar, Charlie.

Charlie smirks, humor in his eyes.

CHARLIE
I'm serious. We ate beans out of the can, but I could never bring myself to eat the sardines.

Anna shakes her head, eating. James turns to Raina, a smile on his face.

JAMES
Charlie likes to exaggerate his stories. He tells this one every time we eat.

CHARLIE
I do not. But if you insist in hearing it...

Anna groans, hanging her head back.

CHARLIE
Me and my commrades were alone on the field. The enemy was across the way, everyone else wiped out. There was four of us left, and we had no signal for communication. Kenny wanted to run but Phil was convinced we could take down the enemy alone.

Charlie takes a bite of beans, wiping his mouth with his arm before swiping his arm across the air for dramatic affects.

CHARLIE
Dave was just there to make his dad happy, so he never spoke up. We made a plan, throw a few grenades across the zone and then run for the hilltops. But of course I couldn't let it be that simple. If I was gonna go out, I wanted to go out in style. So,

Charlie takes another bite of beans, talking with his hands.

CHARLIE
I put our little stereo down on the ground. Put in our favorite CD- which was an Ozzy album, and turned it up as loud as it would go. We threw the grenades and ran. I'm telling you, it was like a scene from a movie. Explosions everywhere, all of us running away from the flames.

JAMES
And then they made it to the hillside, and were able to signal for an extraction helicopter.

Charlie glares at James. Raina smiles, laughing quietly. Anna looks at Raina.

ANNA
Do you have any fun stories, Raina?

Raina shakes her head no, a smile on her face.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
Sadly, I'm not as cool as Charlie over here. Don't have as much life experience.

CHARLIE
Did you just call me old?

Raina smiles at Charlie, eating. James looks towards Raina.

JAMES
What about your family?

RAINA
I, uh, I lived in an orphanage with my brother. He got adopted. I stayed there.

CHARLIE
Do you know where he is?

RAINA
No. I hope he's in good hands. Just want him to be safe, you know? In a bunker, or a ship. Not out here.

CHARLIE
I'm sure he's okay.

Raina nods her head, taking a deep breath before looking at Anna.

RAINA
What about you guys? What was life like before?

ANNA
I taught history at a middle school. James was an engineer for a local science department.

Raina turns to Charlie, tilting her head in question.

CHARLIE
I was living the good retirement life. Two grandkids. The wife always nagged at me for never taking the trash out. The kids lived in our neighborhood, a few houses down. We had family game nights every Sunday after dinner.

Created using Celtx

Raina smiles at Charlies answer, looking down at her hands.

CHARLIE
My biggest regret is leaving them when this whole thing started.

RYKER
That was the right thing to do Charlie. We need to survive.

CHARLIE
No, no. I made a selfish mistake, and now I have no way of knowing if they are still here.

Raina shakes her head.

RAINA
Sometimes the hard decisions are the right ones.

Raina smiles, reassuring Charlie. Julie looks up to her parents, speaking loudly.

JULIE
Momma, can me and Liam go play spaceships?

Anna snaps her head to Julie.

ANNA
Talk quietly. No yelling, Julie. You know better.

Julie looks at her mother, slowly nodding her head, looking down at her feet. The mother looks at her husband, who nods his head, before looking back at her daughter.

ANNA
Make sure you stay close and quiet.

Julie and Liam run off to a nearby tree where they use branches and rocks to make a fake spaceship. Their GIGGLES fill the air as they play. Jack watches them, tilting his head at their game.

Anna sighs, rolling her eyes.

ANNA
We're trying to teach them. They try, they really do, but they're still kids. They don't understand survival.

Raina nods her head. Jack finishes his can of beans before standing up, walking towards the two kids.

RAINA
Hey, where are you going?

Jack turns around, looking at Raina with wide eyes.

JACK
I wanna play.

Raina sits still, looking at the kids behind Jack before looking back at him.

RAINA
I don't know. It's not very saf-

RYKER
Go ahead buddy. We're watching you guys in case something happens.

Jack quickly runs off to the other kids, helping them collect sticks. Raina glares at Ryker, setting her empty can of beans down.

RAINA
That wasn't your place.

RYKER
He's a kid. Loosen up.

RAINA
Exactly. He's a kid in a dangerous world who doesn't know how to survive.

RYKER
Then teach him.

Raina huffs, crossing her arms over her chest. Ryker mimics her, huffing and crossing his arms. Raina glares at him.

RAINA
You're a child.

Ryker smiles, uncrossing his arms. He gently punches Raina's shoulder in a friendly manner.

RYKER
Come on. Lighten up a bit.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
I can't. There's not much time left and here we are. Letting kids play pretend while we just sit here.

RYKER
Just because the world is ending doesn't mean our happiness has to too.

Raina makes eye contact with Ryker, slowly relaxing her shoulders.

RAINA
So what's your plan? Play make believe until the end?

RYKER
If that's how it ends up then sure.

RAINA
What about them?

RYKER
Extra weight. When I first met them I thought they needed someone to help them, but now they just slow me down.

Raina scoffs, rolling her eyes at Ryker.

RYKER
You should stay with us. We're on our way to that bunker.

RAINA
What?

Ryker sighs, running a hand through his hair.

RYKER
I'm just saying. It would be good for Jack. He's still a kid.

RAINA
Don't tell me what would be good for him.

Ryker raises his hands in surrender. Smiling at Raina.

RYKER
It's safer in a group.

Created using Celtx

Ryker sighs, pulling out his backpack. He digs around for a second before pulling out a walkie talkie. He hands it to Raina.

RYKER
In case you ever need help.

Raina glances up at Ryker, holding the walkie talkie in her hand. She furrows her eyebrows, confusion on her face.

RAINA
I said I'll be fine.

RYKER
Well then in case you ever get lonely.

Raina pauses, glancing down at the walkie talkie before slightly nodding her head. She puts it into her backpack, next to the teddy bear.

Her and Ryker sit in silence, watching the kids play. Their parents talk quietly to the old man, discussing the state of the world.

RAINA
So how did you guys find each other?

JAMES
Anna and I came across Charlie in a neighborhood next to ours when this first started. His grandkids went to the school Anna taught at. He stayed with us. Eventually, Ryker found us at a convenient store. Had supplies with him. Now we're here.

Raina turns towards Ryker, crossing her legs.

RYKER
We formed a system soon after. Charlie helps with shelters. James helps with food. Anna teaches the kids and gathers supplies.

RAINA
Do you think we'll actually get inside a bunker?

Ryker turns towards Raina, looking down at her. He nods his head.

Created using Celtx

RYKER
Yeah, I think so. Gotta have some hope to keep me going.

JAMES
No. Even if we do find a bunker, none of us have tickets. They won't let us in.

RYKER
We'll get in James.

ANNA
We keep playing along for the kids, but-

RYKER
We have to have hope. That's what keeps us going.

RAINA
But then what? We just wait out the rest of the days under ground?

RYKER
Charlie told me most of the bunkers have the spaceship schedules. He thinks they'll wait a few days before picking the bunkers up. Hopefully the earth is still in tact by then.

RAINA
Why didn't he stay at the bunker he worked at?

RYKER
I guess they had too many people, not enough tickets for the workers.

Ryker pauses, scooting down more so he is propped up on his elbows.

RYKER
How did you get the map?

Raina tenses, staring at Ryker. She hesitates answering, eyes looking around the area. She takes a deep breath.

RAINA
Mrs. Genie. She took care of me at the orphanage. She used to work in the

Created using Celtx

Bureau of Land Management. Had a lot of different jobs outdoors.

RYKER
She knew where the bunkers were?

RAINA
A few of them. Before everything happened she signed me up for an army bootcamp, said I was 'military material'.

RYKER
And you enjoyed that?

RAINA
Better than a prison cell. It kept me busy, out of trouble. College wasn't an option.

RYKER
Where is she now?

RAINA
Her husband was a CEO. They had money.

RYKER
One of the luckies.

Raina nods, fiddling her hands together.

RAINA
Did you have a family?

RYKER
Yeah.

Ryker looks at his hands, avoiding Raina's question.

RAINA
And?

RYKER
You know, normal family drama. There's always the one child that's the disappointment.

Raina nods her head, meeting Ryker's eyes.

RAINA
How many siblings did you have?

Created using Celtx

RYKER
Three. I was the oldest. Never met the old man's expectations. Didn't live up to mother's standards.

Raina sighs, glancing to Jack and then back to Ryker.

RAINA
You know, I'm sure that's not all true.

RYKER
Yeah right.

She stares at her hands, not looking at Ryker when she speaks.

RAINA
Do you think Jack would be safer with you guys?

RYKER
I think both of you would.

RAINA
No. I'm fine on my own. I need Jack to be safe.

RYKER
It's always better in a group.

RAINA
I'm serious, Ryker. Will you guys keep him safe?

Ryker nods, watching Jack walk towards him. He comes up to Raina, holding tightly to his blanket. Jack sits next to Raina, leaning against her.

RYKER
We should probably get a move on to the bunker.

Raina looks at Ryker with confused eyes.

RAINA
We?

Ryker shakes his head, rolling his eyes.

Created using Celtx

RYKER
We're all going to the same place, what's the harm in walking together?

RAINA
Drawing more attention to ourselves.

RYKER
But it's easier to defend in a group.

Raina stares at Ryker. She glances at the rest of the group, and then down at Jack. She takes a deep breath.

RAINA
Okay. But we're just walking together.

Ryker nods, a satisfied smile on his face.

EXT. WOODS- NIGHT

Raina pulls out her map and compass from her backpack. Jack grabs the flashlight, holding it over the map. Raina looks at the compass before turning to the right. She holds her finger close to the bunker.

She looks down at Jack with a smile. Jack tilts his head at her, his baby blanket around his shoulders.

RAINA
(whispers)
We're close. It should be right over there.

Jack smiles, shaking his hands in excitement. Raina ruffles his hair, walking towards the right with the compass and map in hand. Julie and Liam walk next to Jack, using small sticks they found as walking sticks.

They walk through the woods, pushing branches out of the way. Ryker walks next to Raina. Anna, James, Charlie, and the kids follow behind. Raina abruptly stops, Jack running into her back. She stares at the compass, going back and forth between the map. She turns to Ryker.

RAINA
(whispers)
It should be right here.

Ryker nods. Raina holds a smile of relief on her face as she and Ryker search the ground. Jack kicks his feet around the ground, kicking up dirt and dead leaves. Raina uses the flashlight, also kicking her feet around. The smile on her face slowly turns to a frown the longer they search.

Raina drops to her knees, running her hands around the ground, searching for a door. Jack approaches her.

JACK
(whispers)
Theres nothing over there.

Raina lets out a grunt of frustration. She sits back, looking up at Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
It has to be here somewhere Jack. Keep looking.

Jack goes back to his spot, getting on his hands and knees searching the ground. The rest of the group searches, desperately looking for the door. Raina starts throwing sticks and rocks around. Roughly moving leaves out of the way.

Jack comes back up to Raina, sitting next to her. Ryker follows. The rest of the group stays in their spots, defeated looks on their faces.

RAINA
(whispers)
Maybe we're in the wrong spot.

RYKER
(whispers)
I don't think it's here Raina.

Raina's voice cracks as tears fill her eyes.

RAINA
(whispers)
It needs to be.

Raina drops her head in defeat. Jack scoots closer to her. He takes the teddy bear out of her backpack before placing it in her lap. He leans against her, resting his head on her shoulder.

A few tears roll down Raina's face as she wraps an arm around Jack, the other holding onto the teddy bear. She leans her head against Jack's, closing her eyes for a second. Ryker sits next to them, debating what he should do.

Created using Celtx

Raina sits up, grabbing the map and compass. She puts the compass back in her bag along with the bear, pulling out a pen in the process. She marks an X over bunker number 7, only one remains.

Raina stands up, map in hand. Jack follows, holding onto his blanket. Raina nods her head no.

RAINA
(whispers)
Stay with them.

Jack looks up with confused eyes.

RAINA
(whispers)
You're safer with them, buddy. I can't have you getting hurt. They'll protect you, keep you safe.

Jack shakes his head no, his eyes glistening from tears.

JACK
No. No, don't leave me. Stay.

Raina shakes her head no. Staring down at Jack with her mouth slightly open, trying to find what to say.

RYKER
There're people over there.

Raina's head snaps up, her eyes darting around for the people. She grabs Jack's hand, standing up with her backpack. Ryker stands up quickly, aggressively waving his hand to the family across from him.

While Ryker is trying to get the attention of his group, Raina quietly pulls Jack to her, walking away from the area. They walk to a far away tree where they stand behind it. Raina holds up her finger to her lips, signaling Jack to remain quiet.

A scream ECHOS through the woods. Raina looks through the trees, seeing Jeremy throwing Ryker's supplies into the tote. Noah kicks the kids walking sticks and drops a match onto it, lighting the sticks on fire.

Julie and Liam cry, the sounds of their parents and Charlie falling to the ground engulf the woods. Raina sees Ryker running off in the distance, away from the group.

Jack lets out a sob. Raina turns to him abruptly, smacking a hand over his mouth. She holds her finger to her lips, an angry look on her face.

She grabs Jack's arm and leads him quietly away from the group, going deeper into the woods.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Raina approaches a lake in the woods. Jack sleeps peacefully on her back with Raina's backpack on his back. Trees surround the water. Raina gently sets Jack down, his eyes opening as she does.

Sweat drips down Raina's face, her blisters cracking open in the heat. The sun covers most of the sky now, getting closer to earth.

Raina stands up, walking close to the lake. She squats down, running a hand through the water. She takes her hat off, letting her hair down. She splashes water onto her face before deciding to get all the way in.

She steps into the water, looking around by Jack to make sure no one is near. She floats out, close enough to get out if something happened.

She swims around, a smile on her face as she enjoys the water. Jack sits up from the bank, looking around in a panic until he sees Raina in the water.

Raina smiles at him, waving her hand, signaling for him to get in. Jack shakes his head no.

RAINA
Get in. It feels nice.

Jack shakes his head again. Raina smiles, trying to get him to come into the water.

RAINA
Alright, whatever you want stinky.

She pinches her nose with one of her hands, waving the other in front of it. Her hair is wet.

I can't swim.

Raina stops her gestures, a guilty look spreading across her face. She swims to the bank, grabbing Jack's hands.

RAINA
I'll help you.

Jack shakes his head no, not moving. Raina tugs gently at his arms.

RAINA
Come on. I got you. It's fun I promise.

Jack drops his blanket to the ground. He reluctantly follows Raina into the water, holding onto her neck as they get farther out. Raina lays him on his back, her hands under his back keeping him up.

RAINA
Keep your back arched and look up at the sky.

Jack does as told. Raina slowly moves her hands from under him, Jack sucks in a deep breath starting to freak out.

RAINA
Hey, it's okay. Relax. I'm right here.

Jack relaxes, assuming his position again. He floats on his back in the water as Raina smiles and gives him a thumbs up.

She swims close to him, grabbing under his back and turning him to his stomach.

RAINA
Kick your feet behind you and hold onto my hands.

Raina grabs his hands, standing in front of him. Jack kicks his feet, splashing the water. Raina slowly walks around, pulling Jack with her.

RAINA
Good job, buddy.

Jack smiles at her, kicking hit feet harder. Raina giggles as she stops moving.

RAINA
Okay this time, move your arms like this when you kick.

Raina swings her arms around, mimicking swimming. She stands beside Jack, holding his stomach as he kicks his legs and swings his arms. Water splashes Raina's face as she walks with Jack swimming.

He moves slowly in the water but keeps his head up. Without him knowing, Raina gently lets go of him. Jack keeps swimming, his legs kicking.

RAINA
Jack you're doing it!

A smile plasters Jack's face as he keeps swimming.

JACK
I'm doing it. I'm doing it!

He giggles, water getting into his mouth. He coughs, stopping swimming, and struggles to keep his head above the water as he coughs.

He begins freaking out, waving his arms around as his head bobs up and out of the water. Raina quickly swims over to him, wrapping her arms around his waist and lightly slapping his back.

RAINA
You're okay, calm down.

Jack slowly stops freaking out, still coughing every now and then. Raina smiles down at him.

RAINA
Alright brave boy, that's enough swimming for today.

Jack quickly nods his head, wrapping his arms around Raina as she gets out of the lake. She sets him down, squeezing the water out of her hair.

RAINA
(whispers)
Come here.

Jack walks up to her. Raina takes his baby blanket, placing it on her backpack. Jack immediately tries to grab the blanket, but Raina pulls it back giving Jack a stern look. He stares down at his feet.

Raina holds her knife out in her hand, towards Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
Take the knife.

Jack hesitantly grabs the knife, holding it loosely in his hand. Raina walks behind Jack, folding his hand over the knife correctly.

She holds his hand around the handle, his fingers under the belly of the handle with his thumb wrapped around. She pulls his wrist up, angling the knife upward.

RAINA
(whispers)
This is a hammer grip. We use it for quick stabs and small knives.

Jack nods his head. Raina holds onto his arm, quickly moving it forward and up. She repeats the motion a few more times before letting go of Jack's arm.

RAINA
(whispers)
Try.

Jack mimics the motion Raina helped him with, stabbing at the air. Raina nods her head in approval.

RAINA
(whispers)
Good.

She moves to his hand again. She turns the knife upside down, placing Jack's thumb at the back end of the handle.

RAINA
(whispers)
Reverse thumb grip. This one is for survival. Cutting ropes, gripping the ground, things like that.

Jack nods his head, moving his hand around. Raina grabs onto his hand again, moving his thumb to meet his other fingers.

RAINA
(whispers)
Icepick grip. Use it to get another knife away from your opponent.

Raina picks up a stick in her hand. She gently puts her arm out, her elbow bent, as she moves Jack's arm to block her hit.

RAINA
(whispers)
Block, hit down, hook.

Raina puts Jack's arm on top of hers, the knife curving around her arm. She hits Jack's arm onto hers, pushing his arm towards him as she does. The stick falls out of Raina's hand.

RAINA
(whispers)
See? Try.

JACK
(whispers)
Why?

RAINA
(whispers)
You need to learn to defend yourself.
Now try.

Jack repeats the arm movements on his own. Each time his movement gets stronger and more precise, making Raina smile as she watches him.

RAINA
(whispers)
Good. Show me the hammer grip.

Jack looks down at the knife, moving his hand around. He grips the knife correctly, but holds it out straight in front of him. Raina walks up to him, angling his hand upward.

RAINA
(whispers)
You have to point the blade up or else you're gonna drop the knife when you hit.

Jack nods his head, swinging his arm up sharply.

RAINA
(whispers)
Okay. Icepick.

Jack points the knife downward, adjusting his hand. He swings his arm down, making Raina smile.

RAINA
(whispers)
Reverse thumb.

Jack puts his thumb on the back of the knife, swinging it down again.

RAINA
(whispers)
Now try to change your grip between all three, without stopping.

Raina grabs the knife from him, demonstrating what to do. Her hand starts in the hammer grip, swinging her arm up before she flips the knife down, swinging down and then putting her thumb on the back swinging once again.

She hands the knife back to Jack who tries to imitate Raina. As he flips the knife down he drops it, jumping back when it falls. Raina laughs, picking up the knife.

RAINA
(whispers)
It's okay. It happens. It takes practice.

She puts it in her belt, picking up the stick she used earlier. She approaches Jack, gently swinging her stick towards him.

Jack quickly moves back, away from the stick.

RAINA
(whispers)
Good, but you need to block.

She moves his arms to hold them over his face. She gives him a stick, having him hold it in line with his arms. She continues progressing towards Jack, letting him learn as they spar.

Raina swipes a hit at Jack's side with the stick, he drops his arms and glances at his side. Raina takes the opportunity to gently poke his stomach with the stick.

RAINA
(whispers)
Over. You can't let your guard down, no matter what happens.

Jack stares at Raina with wide eyes, his mouth opening slightly. Raina chuckles.

RAINA
(whispers)
I'm not trying to scare you buddy. You need to learn.

Jack nods his head, holding his arms up again, this time taking the initiative to approach Raina. The two spar, Jack getting better at defending himself.

Raina swings the stick at Jack who ducks under it, Raina drops the stick into her other hand, poking Jack's side with it.

RAINA
(whispers)
Don't be afraid to try new stuff. You don't have to only use what I taught you. Learn to be quick on your feet.

Jack nods, moving towards Raina he quickly moves behind her, kicking the back of her knee. Raina's leg bends slightly, caught off guard. Jack pokes her with the stick and smiles.

JACK
(whispers)
I win.

Raina laughs setting the stick to the ground, holding her hands out in front of her, palms facing Jack. She gets down on her knees so she is Jack's height.

RAINA
(whispers)
Put the stick down. Punch my hands.

Jack gently punches Raina's hands. His thumbs sticking out of his fists. Raina's hands barely move. His feet are parallel. She shakes her head.

RAINA
(whispers)
Don't stick your thumbs out. Try again.

Jack punches her hands again, this time his thumbs tucked under his fingers in his fists. Raina giggles slightly, closing her eyes and fixing Jack's fist.

RAINA
(whispers)
Your thumb wraps around your fingers. Don't hold onto it, that's how you break it.

Jack nods, examining his fists. He punches Raina's hands again, her hands moving slightly this time. She nods her head, Jack punches again.

RAINA
(whispers)
Follow through.

Jack nods again, punching and following through better than before. Raina smiles. She stands up and walks behind Jack. She moves his feet out, stabilizing him.

She tucks his dominant hand under his chin and moves his other hand in front of his face. She gently touches his back leg.

RAINA
(whispers)
When you punch, you pivot this foot.

Jack nods and punches the air, his form getting better with every punch.

RAINA
(whispers)
Good. Keep your knees slightly bent.

Raina stands in front of Jack, swinging gently at him. He ducks automatically. Raina nods at him as he gets back to his stance. The two spar, Raina never making contact with Jack.

After a few seconds of sparring, Raina throws the stick back to Jack. She nods at him as he grabs the stick in one hand. He uses the stick to spar with Raina.

Jack uses what Raina taught him earlier along with his small frame to fight against Raina. His agility helps him avoid Raina's advances. He keep his arms above his face.

He advances towards Raina, using his foot to kick her stomach gently. She backs away after he kicks, ruining Jacks plan. He tries again, kicking her stomach and then trying to punch her face.

She moves back again, ducking under his arm when he punches.

Created using Celtx

He goes again, kicking her stomach and this time trying to poke her with the stick. She dodges it again.

RAINA
You can't keep doing the same thing.
Try to think of a new approach.

Jack nods before advancing towards Raina. He uses a hammer grip to try to poke Raina, when she drops her arm to block him, he gently punches her face.

Raina goes to block her face, using the stick in her hand to swing at Jack's side. Jack quickly turns, using the icepick grip to knock the stick out of Raina's hand.

She drops her arms before swinging her leg out hitting Jack's legs, knocking him off his feet. Jack lays on his back, the stick in his open palm next to him as he groans.

Raina giggles, walking up to Jack and holding out her hand.

RAINA
You're fine. Come on.

Jack grabs her hand, accepting the help up. He goes to advance towards her again, but Raina drops her hands walking up to Jack.

She holds her hand up and Jack high fives her.

RAINA
You did good.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Raina walks up to the bank, sitting down and pulling out a box of crackers from her bag, along with a water.

She drinks from the water, opening the crackers. Jack walks up to her and sits next to her, eating the crackers. Sweat glistens across Jack and Raina's face as they eat. Raina gently moves Jack's feet into the water, his blisters soaking.

Meteorites are seen flying across the sky, not crashing onto earth. Dust lingers in the air, making Jack cough every now and then.

The earth shakes, Jack snapping his head to Raina. She holds his hand, a small tree nearby falling down. The ground stops shaking, and Raina lets go of Jack's hand.

Created using Celtx

Raina looks towards Jack, turning to face him.

RAINA
I would get a labradoodle.

Jack turns his head to Raina, smiling.

JACK
Are those the curly hair dogs?

Raina nods her head yes.

RAINA
My grandma used to have a labradoodle. Her name was Daisy. She liked to jump on the trampoline with me.

JACK
Mommy is allergic to doggys. We had a cat, but he didn't like me much.

RAINA
I'm not a cat person. They don't cuddle.

JACK
Billy liked to scratch my arms so Mommy kept him in her room.

Raina smiles at Jack's comment, nodding her head to show she's listening.

JACK
I was suppose to start school this year. Mommy kept crying when we talked about it.

RAINA
I was supposed to finish school this year.

JACK
You're old.

Raina puts a hand over her heart, pretending to be offended.

RAINA
How dare you.

Jack giggles at her, leaning his forehead onto her shoulder. She ruffles his hair, a smile on her face.

RAINA
If you had a superpower, what would it be?

Jack perks up, standing up holding his blanket around his shoulders, running in a circle around Raina.

JACK
Flying!

Raina smiles, watching him run around her.

RAINA
I would be invisible.

Jack sits by Raina, covering his head in his blanket.

JACK
Like this?

Raina laughs, lifting his blanket off his head.

RAINA
I can still see you goofball.

Jack sits next to Raina, leaning his head on her shoulder. His smile falls, sighing. Raina glances down at him, seeing him playing with his blanket in his hands.

JACK
Do you ever get lonely?

Raina gently nods her head, looking down at her hands .

RAINA
Sometimes, everybody does.

JACK
I got lonely when I was in the gas station.

Raina stays silent.

JACK
I wonder if Mommy and Daddy are lonely.

RAINA
I'm sure they're together. They might even be looking at the sky right now, just like us.

JACK
Do you think Rowen is lonely?

Raina tenses, looking down at her hands.

RAINA
I hope not.

Jack lays down next to Raina, closing his eyes. Raina sits with her knees pulled up to her chest, crossing her arms over the top of them. She glances at Jack every now and then.

Raina gives him his blanket and picks up her backpack. She fills up a few water bottles in the lake. She opens the map and compass, turning till she's facing the correct way.

RAINA
Ready?

Jack nods no- still laying down. Raina nods her head towards behind her.

RAINA
Gotta get going bud.

Jack lets out a sigh as he stands up. Raina glances to his feet.

RAINA
We'll find something for them soon.

The two begin walking again. They walk past the lake deeper into the woods. Jack walks next to Raina, looking around.

Raina glances down at Jack as they pass a line of berry bushes. She stops walking and brings Jack to a bush.

RAINA
These are Holly Berries. Don't eat them, they're poisonous.

Jack nods his head before pointing to a viny bush by a tree.

JACK
What about those?

Raina turns to look at the bush, walking up to it. She nods her head.

RAINA
Those are fine. They're Muscadines,

Created using Celtx

they taste like grapes.

Raina picks a few of the berries, handing some to Jack as they eat them. Jack nods his head in approval as he eats the berries.

RAINA
If you aren't sure smush it and rub it on your arm. If it's bad your arm will get red and itchy.

Jack nods his head in understanding before picking more of the berries to eat.

RAINA
Never eat berries that smell bad, have hairs spurs or thorns, or green berries.

The ground suddenly starts shaking. Dead trees nearby fall. Jack drops to the ground, covering his head. Raina covers her head, looking up at the sky.

The ground shakes roughly, causing Raina to fall to the ground. The tree next to them falls over, one of the branches falling on Jacks elbow. His cries fill Raina's ears. Screams are heard in the distance.

She stays put until the ground stops shaking. She sits up, moving towards Jack and pulling him from under the tree. She takes his arm in her hands, turning it over to look at his elbow.

A large knot sits on the top of Jack's elbow, a few droplets of blood seeping out from the scrape. Raina pulls out a bottle of water, dripping a little onto his elbow.

She takes another part of her tanktop off, wrapping it gently around his elbow. She looks up at him, wiping his tears.

RAINA
It's okay. Just a scratch.

Jack sniffles, wiping his nose with his other arm. The ground shakes slightly, causing Jack to jump into Raina's arms, clinging to her torso.

RAINA
It's okay Jack. Just aftershocks. It'll stop soon.

Created using Celtx

Raina sits with Jack in her arms, holding him close to her, trying to soothe him. Slowly, Jack calms down, pulling himself away from Raina's arms.

Raina stands up, grabbing her things and Jack's hand.

RAINA
Let's go.

EXT. WOODS- NIGHT

The pair start walking in silence. Jack holds onto Raina's hand tightly, not looking up from his feet. Raina looks around nervously, being gentle to not scare Jack.

FOOTSTEPS are heard behind the pair. Raina picks up the pace, careful not to scare Jack. Raina sharply turns, Jack stumbling behind her.

JACK
(whispers)
I thought the bunker was the other way.

RAINA
(whispers)
I thought you'd wanna rest for the night. There's a town on the other side of the woods.

The footsteps pick up pace in the distance, Raina looks behind her, noting the pace.

JACK
Why are we going so fast?

Raina roughly puts her finger to her lips, sternly looking at Jack.

JACK
Slow down.

Jack stumbles over his feet as Raina yanks his arm forward.

JACK
Stop it.

The sound of BREATHING and FOOTSTEPS get closer to the pair. Raina continues walking quickly, turning at random trees, pulling Jack behind her. Her breath quickens as the footsteps get closer.

Created using Celtx

JACK
Let go.

Raina's grip tightens as she walks faster. Jack struggles against her grip, twisting his body.

JACK
I said let go.

Jack pulls his arm from Raina, rubbing his biceps where her hand was. An angry expression covers his face as he glares at Raina, who is a few feet in front of him.

RAINA
(whispers)
Jack I am not playing around. I told you in the beginning, you do what I say. Now keep walking.

JACK
No.

RAINA
(whispers)
Come on.

JACK
No.

Raina frustratingly walks up to Jack, roughly grabbing his arm and picking him up. Jack struggles against her grip, wiggling his body in her arms. Raina quickly turns around, setting Jack down.

RAINA
(whispers)
Dammit Jack listen to me. There are people following us. Shut up and walk.

Jack stares at Raina with a hurt expression. His lips frown as he drops his head. He slowly walks next to Raina, slowing down her pace.

Raina lets out a frustrated grunt as she looks up at the trees. A large tree is a few feet away. She walks to it, not looking back at Jack.

When she gets to the tree she climbs it, sitting on the lowest branch. She waits for Jack to get to the bottom, watching as he struggles to climb up the tree.

Created using Celtx

Jack gets a quarter of the way to the branch before sliding back down. Raina rolls her eyes, holding her hand down. Jack tries again, refusing to grab Raina's hand.

He slides down the tree again.

JACK
(whispers)
Dammit.

Raina's head snaps down to Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
Don't say that word.

She leans back again, her hand still hanging down for Jack as she smiles at his cussing. Jack tries again, this time grabbing Raina's hand. She pulls him up.

Raina begins climbing the tree again, sitting on the fourth branch. Jack follows, sitting next to her. She takes the rope out, tying it to Jack before holding her finger to her lips.

Jeremy, Noah, and Sam walk near the tree, carrying the tote with them. Noah holds a large knife in his hand, randomly swinging at branches as he passes them.

Jeremy walks in front, his head constantly looking around, a compass in his hand. Sam follows behind, watching her feet.

Noah walks past Raina and Jack's tree, hitting the trunk with his knife. Jack jumps slightly. Raina quickly covers his mouth and holds him still.

Noah looks up in the tree.

NOAH
Did you guys hear that?

Sam shakes her head no as Jeremy keeps looking around the area. Noah pulls out a flashlight, clicking the button. No light comes out as the flashlight is dead. He shakes it slightly before throwing it to the ground.

JEREMY
It was probably a squirrel. Come on.

Noah stares up at the tree as he follows Jeremy. The group walking away from Raina and Jack. When they are no longer in sight Raina lets go of Jack, letting out a breath.

Created using Celtx

Raina starts climbing down the tree, Jack following her. She tries to grab his hand, but he pulls it away, walking beside her at a distance.

The pair walk the opposite way from Jeremy. An awkward silence fills the air. While walking Jack ties his blanket around his shoulders, now swinging both arms at his side.

Raina wipes the sweat off her forehead, a few drops of blood wiping onto her arm from her blisters. She stops walking for a moment, adjusting her hat.

She begins walking again, one hand on her backpack, the other by her side.

EXT. MAIN ROAD- NIGHT

Raina and Jack walk along a road. Jack yawns, rubbing his eyes. Raina ruffles his hair. Jack looks up at her.

JACK
(whispers)
Can we sit for a little?

Raina nods.

Raina walks Jack to the side of the road, getting out her backpack. Jack puts his blanket on the ground, laying his head down on it.

Raina pulls out the teddy bear and the radio. She turns the radio on quietly. Static is heard until a voice speaks through.

RADIO SHOW HOST (O.S)
Another ship is leaving tonight... Red Giant... Expect meteorites... cover... days left. Broadcasting... Cleveland bun...

Raina turns the radio off, not wanting to frighten Jack. Raina sighs.

RAINA

I'm sorry. I'm just trying to keep you safe.

Jack doesn't acknowledge her.

RAINA

Come on Jack. I'm sorry. I just don't want you to get hurt.

Jack looks up at Raina, his eyebrows pushed together.

JACK
(whispers)
I'm a big boy. You taught me how to protect myself.

Raina sighs, a smile on her face at his stubbornness.

RAINA
(whispers)
Just because I taught you doesn't mean I want you to have to use it.

Jack nods his head. His hand gently grabs Raina's, eyes staring at the sky.

JACK
(whispers)
Do you think Daddy died?

Raina freezes, eyes wide as she looks at Jack. She pauses, debating what to tell Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
I'm not sure.

Jack rolls onto his side, facing Raina.

JACK
(whispers)
What do you think Ryker is doing?

Raina shrugs her shoulders, eyes looking at the walkie talkie in her bag.

RAINA
(whispers)
Go to sleep.

JACK

What do the pirates want?

Raina looks at Jack with an annoyed face.

Created using Celtx

RAINA

Sleep, Jack.

JACK
(whispers)
We're following the treasure map. Is that what they want?

RAINA
(whispers)
I don't know.

JACK
(whispers)
Where are all the animals?

Raina looks around, noticing she hasn't seen any animal in a while. She shrugs her shoulders at Jack.

The ground begins shaking. Jack clings to Raina. Trees in the woods begin falling. A small crack forms on the road a few feet away from the pair.

Meteorites cover the sky, some large some small. Meteorite crashes in the woods next to Raina and Jack, causing the trees to catch on fire.

Raina stands up, grabbing her things and Jack's hand before running. Meteorites continue to hit the ground nearby as the earth still shakes.

Cracks cover the road they are running on, Raina holds an arm above her head. While running Jack stumbles over a crack.

RAINA
It's okay, come on.

Jack runs next to Raina as they try to weave through the falling meteors. Jack yells as a meteor hits the ground nearby, causing him and Raina to fall down.

Scrapes cover Raina's knees as Jack's feet begin to bleed. Raina quickly stands up, helping Jack up. They keep running as the earth slowly stops shaking.

The meteors slow down, only a few hitting the earth far away. Jack's heavy breathing fills the air. Raina turns in a circle, the woods are on fire in spots, the road is cracked, multiple trees are down.

Created using Celtx

JACK
What was that?

RAINA
The sun.

Raina walks to Jack, rubbing his back gently before he stands up.

JACK
Can we find a house?

Raina nods her head, agreeing at finding shelter. Raina pulls out her map and compass. She makes sure they are going the correct way before point out a small dot on the map to Jack.

RAINA
This way.

Jack nods his head, grabbing Raina's hand as they begin walking.

EXT. MAIN ROAD- DAY

Fires burn in the woods, the black smoke filling the air. The trees and plants that are not on fire are covered in frost. The sun is smaller and not as red, a dim light in the sky.

The earth is dark, the sun no longer illuminating the surface very well. As Raina and Jack breathe their breath can be seen in the air. Jack wraps his blanket around him to stay warm.

Raina wraps her arms around herself, rubbing her hands against her arms. Her nose is red, running, causing her to wipe it. Jack's teeth chatter, his lips a light shade of blue.

RAINA
(whispers)
We're close. I promise.

JACK
(whispers)
I'm cold.

RAINA
(whispers)
I know, but we gotta keep moving.

Jack nods, walking beside Raina. Raina takes off her backpack, pulling out a bottle of water. The bottle is half empty. She drinks part of it, giving the rest to Jack.

Raina pulls out the other water bottles in her bag, all of them being empty. She sighs, roughly shoving them back into her bag. She turns to Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
We need to find more water.

Jack looks at her before looking into the woods beside them. Raina nods at his suggestion. The two walk into the woods.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

The ground shakes. Raina looks up, meteors decorate the sky again, falling close to the pair. A meteor hits, shaking the ground. Raina stumbles from the impact, looking around for Jack.

Another meteor hits, causing Raina to fall down. The earth shakes again, trees falling around the pair. Raina looks around, not seeing Jack.

She lets out a whimper before another meteor hits, causing her to scream.

RAINA
Jack!

Raina tries to stand up, the ground shaking again causing her to stumble and fall. She stays down, covering her head with her hands.

Meteors hitting the ground SOUND through the woods. Loud. Jack is a few feet away from Raina, blocked off by fallen trees. He is on his feet, turning in circles trying to find Raina.

JACK
Raina?

His baby blanket is around his shoulders, his eyes filled with tears and worry as he looks for Raina. The ground shakes again. Jack lets out a whimper as he stumbles, tripping over his feet and falling down.

His hands reach in front of him as he makes impact with the ground. He grunts as he hits the ground, his knees and palms scraped. The sound of a CRACKING tree fills the air. Jack looks up, seeing a tree falling beside him.

Created using Celtx

He quickly tries to crawl away. The tree falls, trapping Jack's foot under it. He lets out a scream.

Jack's scream ECHOS through the woods. Raina sucks in a breath, panic displayed on her face. She waits anxiously for the ground the stop shaking.

When the meteors stop hitting she quickly stands up, looking around for Jack. Trees are fallen all over, fires are in the distance. As Raina yells, her breath is seen in the air.

RAINA
Jack, where are you?

Raina hears a WHIMPER coming from across the trees. She starts running, stepping over the fallen trees. She stumbles over the third fallen tree, looking to her right as she does.

Under one of the branches lays Jack, tears pouring from his eyes. He's on his stomach, one leg stuck under the tree as he tries to pull himself out.

Raina quickly moves towards him, crouching down beside him.

RAINA
Hey, it's okay. I'm right here.

Jack looks at Raina, tears falling down his cheeks. He glances at his foot before looking back at Raina. Raina nods, wiping Jack's tears and brushing his hair back.

She stands up, going to the tree branch. She grabs hold of the branch, squatting down. She uses all her strength to pick up the branch slightly. She grits her teeth as she holds on, grunting, the veins in her neck straining.

Jack crawls from under the tree, far enough away so the tree isn't touching him. Raina roughly lets go of the tree, letting out a breath. She breaths heavily as she walks to Jack, sitting on her knees in front of his foot.

She gently lifts his foot up, propping it on her knees. She looks at it. His foot is bruised, swollen near the ankle. The middle of his foot is scraped from the tree, lightly bleeding.

Raina rips off the bottom of Jack's shirt, before ripping that fabric in half. She uses one half to wipe the blood and dirt off his foot. She ties the other fabric around his foot and ankle.

She lets out a sigh, her hands by her side as she looks at Jack. His cheeks are stained with tears, his eyes now swollen and red. Jack gently moves, careful not to put pressure on his foot.

He sits in Raina's lap, wrapping his arms around her neck. She holds onto him, rubbing his back, her face pressed against the top of his head. She quiets him, gently rocking back and forth.

RAINA
(whispers)
We're okay. It's okay.

Jack sniffles, holding tighter to Raina. Raina breaths heavily, her body relaxing slightly. The heat from her breath fills the air around them.

Sparse snow falls from the sky, wind blowing it around. Raina rubs Jack's back, looking down at him.

RAINA
(whispers)
We need to find shelter.

Jack shakes his head no, gripping Raina tightly. She pulls him away from her, looking him in the eyes.

RAINA
(whispers)
Jack, we need to move.

JACK
(whispers)
I don't want to.

Raina tilts her head, her eyes filling with worry. She stares Jack in the eyes.

RAINA
(whispers)
It's gonna be okay. We'll get to a bunker. I promise.

JACK
(whispers)
I'm scared.

A tear slips down Jack's cheek. Raina wipes it away, pulling Jack back into a hug, whispering comforting words.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
(whispers)
I'm scared too.

Jack nods gently into Raina's shoulder. Raina stands up, leaving Jack on the ground. She puts her backpack on his back, leaving the compass and map in her hands.

Raina squats down, helping Jack onto her back. He wraps his arms around her neck, legs around her waist. Raina hooks her arms under his legs, careful not to hit his swollen ankle.

Raina stands up, looking at the map and compass, before walking in the direction of the bunker. Her eyes focused on the town on the map on the way to the bunker.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Jeremy, Noah, and Sam walk behind Raina, far enough away to not be noticed. Jeremy leads the group, walking in front.

SAM
(whispers)
And you're sure she's the one with the map?

Jeremy nods, glancing to the side at Sam.

JEREMY
(whispers)
It's in her backpack. The kid was talking about it.

NOAH
I think we should take it now.

SAM
(whispers)
Shut up Noah.

NOAH
Sam, why-

JEREMY
(whispers)
Both of you quiet. We'll get the map.

The group continues following Raina in quiet.

EXT. WOODS- DAY

Raina walks with Jack on her back. Her nose is red from the cold, her breath filling the air. A light dusting of snow covers the ground. Her steps leave footprints behind her.

A GROWL is heard to the left of Raina. Her head snaps in the direction. A small red fox stands near a tree, leaning down on its paws. Raina freezes, her breath hitching.

The fox slowly walks towards Raina. She takes a step back every time it moves. Raina sets Jack down. She takes her backpack off, grabbing her knife.

Raina looks around, a rock sits next to her foot. She picks it up. The fox pounces. Raina throws the rock at it, before kicking it away. The fox pauses, shaking its head out before growling.

Jack walks to the backpack, pulling out a granola bar. The fox snarls at the pair. Raina holds up her knife, ready to attack. Jack makes a noise, the fox turning to him.

He throws the granola bar, the fox quickly chasing after it. They run in the direction they were walking from, away from the town they were heading to. Raina glances back over her shoulder. When she can no longer see the fox, they slow to a walk.

Raina looks down at Jack.

RAINA
(whispers)
Good thinking.

Jack smiles up at Raina, his teeth showing. Raina smiles back. She pulls out the map and compass, finding an alternate way to get to he town. A road lies a couple hundred feet from the woods.

The pair begin walking to the road. Jack limping behind. While walking, Raina looks at the ground far ahead of them. Footsteps lie in the light dusting of snow. Raina furrows her eyebrows.

She walks up to the footsteps, crouching down by them. Three different sets of footsteps cover the ground, two larger sets and one smaller set.

Raina stands up, glancing around the woods. Jack walks up behind her.

JACK
(whispers)
What?

Raina shakes her head, grabbing Jack's hand and leading him away from the footsteps towards the road.

RAINA
(whispers)
Nothing, come on.

They walk through the woods, exiting onto the main road. Raina keeps looking around, alert, trying to find who the footsteps belong to.

EXT. SMALL TOWN- NIGHT

Raina enters the town on the way to the bunker, Jack asleep on her back. She walks down a street of houses, examining each one. A light blue house sits on the corner of a culdesac.

As she walks to the house, she moves snow over each footprint she makes, trying to hide them.

Raina walks up the porch, standing in front of the door. She gently nudges Jack with her head.

RAINA
(whispers)
We're here, buddy. Wake up.

Jack slowly lifts his head up, looking around. Raina gently sets him on a worn-down rocking chair on the porch.

RAINA
(whispers)
I need to check the house. Stay here.
Yell if anything happens.

Jack nods his head, wrapping himself in his blanket. Raina enters the house, knife in her hands. Jack looks around outside. Frost covers the dead grass in front of the house.

Black smoke covers the sky in the distance from fires. The sound of a ROCK AGAINST PAVEMENT causes Jack to snap his head in the direction of the noise. He grips his blanket, breath hitching. The trees in the woods, near the sound, move slightly. Jack looks at the door of the house, his teeth chattering from the cold.

Created using Celtx

He gets up from the chair, hopping on one foot to the door. He opens the door, hopping into the hallway. Raina runs down the stairs, knife in front of her. Jack jumps, stumbling into the wall. Raina breaths heavily.

RAINA
I told you to stay outside.

JACK
I got scared. And cold.

Raina shakes her head, walking to Jack and picking him up. She walks to the kitchen, opening cabinets. A few cans of sweet potatoes remain.

Jack grabs the cans as Raina shuts the cabinets. She opens drawers until she finds silverware. She grabs two forks. Jack opens the pantry, a half empty water bottle sitting on a shelf. He grabs it taking it to Raina.

Raina smiles, grabbing the bottle before walking up the stairs.

She enters a large room. A bed sits in the middle, blankets thrown everywhere. Raina sits Jack on the bed. She opens the drawers of the dresser in the room. A few pairs of socks sit in the drawer. She picks up three pairs.

Raina walks to Jack, gently putting all three pairs of socks on his feet. She then sits next to him. She uses a screw driver in her backpack to open the cans, handing one to Jack.

Raina quickly begins eating, but Jack stays still. She takes small drinks every now and then. Raina glances at him a few times while eating before sighing.

RAINA
What's wrong?

Jack shrugs, looking at his feet. Raina tenses, setting her food down and turning to Jack. She looks him in the eyes.

RAINA
Did you see something?

Jack shrugs his shoulders, looking at his lap. Raina puts her hands on his shoulders.

RAINA
Jack, what did you see?

Created using Celtx

JACK
Nothing. I just heard something outside, that's all. I'm just scared.

Raina lets out a breath, closing her eyes.

RAINA
We're okay. We're safe tonight. I locked the door.

Jack nods his head, still staring at his lap. Raina wraps an arm around him, hugging him. Jack leans his head against her.

RAINA
We'll find a bunker. I promise.

Jack nods his head slightly, leaning closer into Raina.

RAINA
And when we get off this planet, we'll get a dog.

JACK
There's dogs in space?

RAINA
I'm sure a few dogs were able to make it onto a ship.

JACK
Will we?

RAINA
I'll make sure of it.

Jack sits back up, pushing the potatoes around with his fork. Raina finishes eating, turning towards Jack.

RAINA
You need to eat.

Jack slowly eats the potatoes, drinking the rest of the water, as Raina lays down on the bed, staring at the ceiling.

Jack sets the potatoes down, laying next to Raina on the bed.

JACK
Do you think Ryker got away?

Raina hums a yes in response.

Created using Celtx

JACK
What about everyone else?

RAINA
I don't know, Jack. Don't think about it.

JACK
Julie and Liam were nice. They played tag with me.

RAINA
You'll make other friends in the bunker.

Jack turns on his side, facing Raina.

JACK
I wish we stayed with Ryker.

RAINA
Go to bed Jack.

Jack sighs, turning onto his stomach and pulling his blanket to his face. Raina stares at the ceiling, closing her eyes every now and then. Trying to stay awake.

INT. HOUSE- NIGHT

The sound of a WINDOW SHATTERING startles Raina and Jack awake. Raina quickly stands up, grabbing her knife and backpack. She turns to Jack, putting her finger to her lips. Jack nods.

Raina walks to the bedroom door, pressing her ear to the door. FOOTSTEPS are heard through the house, walking up the stairs.

Raina picks up Jack, quietly walking into the closet in the bedroom. She moves as far back in the closet as she can, closing the door. She holds a hand over Jacks mouth to quiet his breathing.

The closet is dark, horizontal lines illuminate Jack and Raina's face from the patterned door. The bedroom is lit with the moonlight through the windows.

The bedroom door CREAKS open, silence filling the room. Through the closet door, Raina sees Jeremy, Noah, and Sam enter.

Created using Celtx

It's silent, the only noise is the group WALKING around the room. They begin picking things up. Sam searches the nightstands and dressers for the map. Jeremy picks up the cans of potatoes and turns them in his hands.

JEREMY
It's recent, they have to be nearby.

He throws the cans and forks to the floor. Noah gets impatient looking through the room and begins knocking off books from the dresser and shelves. He throws the pillows and blankets off the bed.

Jack jerks forward slightly in Raina's arms when Noah throws the blankets. Jack's baby blanket now on the floor. The room goes silent. HANGERS moving in the closet ECHO through the room. Raina squeezes her eyes shut, pulling Jack closer to her.

Noah walks towards the closet, his heavy boots POUNDING against the floor. The moonlight through the closet door falters with Noah's silhouette. Noah stops walking. Raina and Jack both open their eyes for a second.

Noah swings open the closet door. Jack lets out a scream as Raina jumps. Noah roughly grabs Jack, yanking him from Raina's grip.

RAINA
No!

She jumps forward, swinging her knife towards Noah. Noah steps back, holding Jack in a choke hold. Jack kicks his legs, trying to get away. His hands grabbing at Noah's arms.

RAINA
Let him go!

Raina advances towards Noah, swinging her leg at his knees before shoving his shoulders, trying to get him to fall. Noah stumbles slightly, remaining on his feet.

She goes for Noah again, only to be stopped by Jeremy. Jeremy wraps his arms around Raina, hitting her arm down, trying to get the knife out of her hand. Raina throws her head back before she drops the knife, Jeremy loosening his grip on her arm. Raina swings her knife at Jeremy, pulling out of his grip, and protecting her face.

Jeremy ducks under the knife, punching Raina in the stomach. Raina jerks back, bending over trying to catch her breath.

Created using Celtx

Jeremy takes the opportunity to knee Raina in the face.

Raina drops to her knees, dropping her knife, holding her now bleeding nose. Jack screams when he sees Raina fall, and swings his feet around, trying to use what Raina taught him. Jeremy stands over Raina.

JEREMY Stay down.

Jack's eyes move frantically, looking for anything to help. He drops his arms, trying to punch Noah. Noah doesn't move, ignoring the weak punches from Jack.

Jack swings his arm again, clipping Noah's nose with his fist. Noah's face turns angry, shoving his knee into Jack's back. Jack whimpers.

While punching, Jack's hand brushes over the multiple knives around Noah's belt. His hand grips a knife.

Jeremy walks up to Raina, Sam behind her. Raina pushes herself up, holding her fists in front of her. Jeremy stands in front of Raina, not preparing to fight. Sam kicks the back of Raina's knees, making her stumble and put a knee down. Sam yanks the backpack off of Raina as Jeremy grabs her. Raina dropping to the ground.

Quickly, Raina stands up, stabbing the fork into Sam's bicep. Sam drops the now unzipped backpack, things inside scattering throughout the room.

Rowen's teddy bear falls out of the bag. The stained rock rolls near Raina. Jeremy grabs Raina's hair, yanking her head back. Raina stumbles, turning in his grip and kneeing him in the groin. Jeremy falls to his knees.

Raina picks up her knife, advancing to Noah. Noah moves Jack slightly, tightening his grip. Jack's face gets more red, starting to struggle less.

NOAH
I wouldn't do that.

Raina glares at him, still advancing. Noah lifts Jack off the floor slightly, Jack's legs rapidly moving around. Raina sucks in a breath. She holds he hands up.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
Let him go. He's a kid.

NOAH
Give me the map.

RAINA
Let him go first.

Raina stares at Noah, knife still in her hand. Noah looks past her, causing Raina to turn around. Jeremy tackles her to the ground, hitting her head on the floor. Raina struggles.

Two slips of paper fall out of Jeremy's pockets, the only wording visible 'Mount Vernon'. Jack struggles to breath. Jeremy quickly grabs the slips of paper, shoving them back in his pocket.

Jack quickly swings his arm up, the knife in his hand imbedding into Noah's shoulder. Noah drops Jack, hand flying to his bleeding shoulder.

Jack tries to crawl away, only to be kicked over by Noah.

Jeremy punches her, Raina swinging her knife. Jeremy knocks the knife out of her hand, sitting up from her slightly.

JEREMY
(grunts)
Stop fighting.

SAM
Let's go!

Jeremy looks at Sam long enough for Raina to reach for the stained rock next to her. She grabs it, hitting Jeremy in the head with it. A small gash displays on Jeremy's forehead. She turns over to her stomach, trying to crawl out from beneath Jeremy. Raina looks to the side, seeing Noah attacking Jack. Raina stands up, running to Noah. She pulls him back, punching him in the face.

Jack stands up, holding his hands like Raina taught him. Jeremy stands up from behind Raina, making her turn around. While facing Jeremy, Noah grabs a knife from his belt. Jack advances to Noah, swinging his fist. Noah blocks it, approaching Raina.

He stabs the knife into Raina's thigh. Raina screams, dropping down and curling onto her side to hold her thigh. Jeremy glares at Noah, walking up to him and roughly grabbing his arm.

Created using Celtx

JEREMY
Come on.

Noah yanks himself out of Jeremy's grip, huffing.

NOAH
Get off, man.

JEREMY
Let's go. It's over.

Noah rolls his eyes and picks up the teddy bear, laughing at it. He rips the arm off of it, throwing it next to Raina, the body landing in the blood from Raina's leg.

Noah roughly walks towards Jack again. Jeremy stands in front of him, holding his arms.

JEREMY
Let it go. Maybe get better at fighting.

Noah grunts, trying to push past Jeremy. Jeremy digs his thumb into Noah's bloody shoulder, making the man groan.

Sam, Noah, and Jeremy leave the house. Jack lays on all fours, coughing roughly, his face red and lined with veins. Raina lays on the floor, blood pouring around her leg.

Raina lays there, not moving. Once Jack catches his breath he crawls to the backpack, digging through it. He turns to Raina.

JACK
It's gone.

Raina stays on the ground, ignoring Jack. Her hand lightly lays on her thigh. Raina closes her eyes, a look of defeat on her face.

JACK
Raina?

Raina ignores him, removing her hand from her wound. She pushes the teddy bear away from her. Jack scoots closer to Raina.

JACK
Rai?

Jack sits next to Raina, staring at her. Raina sighs, looking at Jack.

RAINA
It's over.

Jack looks at Raina with a confused face.

RAINA
We're never gonna find a bunker. We're done.

JACK
Don't say that. You promised we would find a bunker.

RAINA
I'm breaking my promise.

JACK
But what about our space dog?

RAINA
It's over, Jack. We have no way of finding a bunker now.

JACK
But you said-

RAINA
I know what I said! I lied. We're done. Dead.

Jack scoots away from Raina, tears in his eyes. A few slip down his face as he sniffs. Raina stares at him, a tear in her eyes. She sighs.

RAINA
(whispers)
I'm tired Jack. I can't do this anymore. That map was our only hope. I'm done.

JACK
No. We're close. We're so close. We can find it.

Raina smiles softly at Jack, rubbing her thumb across his cheek.

RAINA
(whispers)
Go. Go survive and find that bunker.

JACK
No. I'm not leaving you.

RAINA
Go find Ryker, Jack. Leave.

JACK
No! You protect me, I protect you. I'm not leaving. Not without you.

RAINA
You can do it Jack. You're strong. Be brave.

JACK
No. Stop being so stubborn. You can't just give up.

Raina shakes her head no, closing her eyes. Jack stays still, tears in his eyes as he stares at Raina. He grabs his blanket, scooting closer to Raina.

He wraps his blanket around her leg, tying it as tight as he can around her wound. Blood quickly stains the blanket. Raina opens her eyes, staring at Jack.

INT. RAINA AND ROWEN'S LIVING ROOM- DAY (FLASHBACK)

Raina and Rowen sit on their couch. Rowen sits in Raina's lap, his blanket wrapped around both of them. Their parents are in the kitchen, their voices ECHOING through the house.

MOM
I told you to pay the bills!

INT. HOUSE- NIGHT (END FLASHBACK)

Raina closes her eyes, a tear running down her cheek. Jack sits next to her, a hand on her leg. Jack hugs Raina, burying his head in her shoulder. Raina squeezes Jack back, breathing in deeply.

She sits up, wiping her tears from her cheeks. She nods at Jack, taking a deep breath.

RAINA
(whispers)
Okay.

Jack brings the walkie talkie to Raina, placing it in her hands. She turns it on, taking a deep breath before pressing the button and holding it up to her mouth.

RAINA
Ryker? It's Raina. Are you there?

Static goes through the walkie talkie. No one replies. Jack and Raina sit quietly, waiting. Raina sighs, trying again.

RAINA
Ryker? Jack's with me. Please answer.

Static comes through again. Raina looks towards Jack, sadness in her eyes. Jack has a face of disappointment.

RAINA
Maybe he lost it.

JACK
He's not coming for us?

Raina shakes her head no, setting the walkie talkie next to her. She wraps an arm around Jack, pulling him close in a hug.

RYKER
Raina? Can you hear me?

Raina and Jack snap their heads up, hope filling their faces. Raina quickly grabs the walkie talkie, bringing it to her mouth.

RAINA
Yeah. Yeah, I can hear you.

RYKER
What's up, beautiful?

Raina rolls her eyes. She takes a deep breath, looking at Jack.

RAINA
We, I, need help.

RYKER
Where are you?

Created using Celtx

RAINA
Marengo. Third house on Bennington Way.

RYKER
Can you guys get to I-71?

Raina pauses, looking around.

RAINA
I don't know.

Raina nods her head, putting the walkie talkie down. Jack stands up, grabbing the remaining supplies they have and putting them in the backpack. He puts the backpack on, walking to Raina.

He puts his hands out, helping Raina to her feet.

JACK
Can you walk?

RAINA
I'll be fine.

They leave the house. They stand on the street, Raina looks around.

JACK
How do we get there?

RAINA
I don't know. We need to get to an intersection, there should be highway signs then.

Jack nods his head, pointing down the street.

JACK
There's more buildings down there.

Raina nods her head, limping in the direction of the town, Jack walking close to her side. Raina stumbles while walking. Jack attaches to her side, doing his best to help her walk.

A small street sign indicates I-71 two miles north. Raina grabs the walkie talkie.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
We can get there.

RYKER
Good. I'll meet you there. Hurry up, we don't have much time left.

Blood slowly seeps out of the blanket, running down Raina's leg. Jack looks down at her leg, eyes filling with concern.

JACK
Come on, Rai.

EXT. STREET IN MOUNT VERNON- DAY

Jeremy, Sam, and Noah walk along the street, the map open in Sam's hands. Noah glances at Jeremy every now and then, and angry look on his face.

Jeremy stops, signaling the rest of the group to pause. Jeremy stares into the woods next to the road, Sam following his eyes. A deer grazes on a small patch of grass.

Jeremy holds his finger to his lips, his other hand gripping his knife. Quietly, Jeremy creeps into the woods, knife raised. When Jeremy disappears, Noah grabs Sam's arm, yanking her to the other side of the road.

SAM
(whispers)
What the hell?

NOAH
(frantically whispers)
I think Jeremy has tickets.

Sam snaps her eyes to Noah, tilting her head.

SAM
(whispers)
What? Why would-

Something fell out of his pocket at that house. He's not telling us something.

Sam shakes her head no.

SAM

No. No, Jeremy wouldn't do that. Not to me. We're like a family. We're a team.

NOAH

Wouldn't you do the same? He used us to get the map, and now he's gonna leave us.

SAM
(whispers)
No. Jeremy wouldn't do that. Not to me. You just don't like him.

NOAH
(whispers)
How much do you really know about him?

SAM
(whispers)
A lot. Ex-military, from some small farmtown.

NOAH
(whispers)
What about his family? What's his last name? His life before this? He doesn't trust you. Or me.

Sam furrows her eyebrows, glancing towards the woods Jeremy disappeared in. She tilts her head, eyes saddening. She turns back to Noah.

SAM
(whispers)
So what's your point?

NOAH
(whispers)
We take them.

EXT. DOWNTOWN MARENGO- DAY

Jack and Raina stop walking, standing in the middle of the main intersection in the city. Raina looks around, sweat contrasts her red, runny nose.

A large green sign says 'I-71 1/2 Mile North'. Raina and Jack walk in the direction of the sign. The blanket on Raina's leg is completely covered in blood. Jack's cheeks are bright red from the cold, his breath covering the sky.

Raina breaths heavily, slowing her walk. Jack stops walking, turning to Raina.

JACK
Come on. We're close, just a little further.

Raina nods, sucking in a breath of pain before continuing to limp in the direction of the highway. A light dusty snow falls from the sky, lingering in Jack and Raina's hair.

A meteor hits the ground a few miles away. The ground shakes, a small crack forming in the intersection. Jack stumbles away from Raina, and Raina falls to the ground, her hands catching herself.

The shaking stops, and Jack runs to Raina. The sky is darker, the once red sky now a dark red, making the ground harder to see.

Jack crouches down to Raina, putting a hand on her shoulder. Raina looks up at Jack, breathing heavily and closing her eyes. Jack shakes her slightly, looking around the area.

Raina takes a deep breath before sitting up, using Jack to stand up. They start walking to the highway, stepping over the crack in the road.

The pair makes it to the highway ramp, Raina collapsing to the ground under the bridge. Jack turns to her, sitting on his knees.

JACK
Come on. We have to find Ryker. He's somewhere around.

RAINA
I can't go any further. I just,

Raina takes a deep breath, squeezing her eyes shut.

Just need to rest for a second.

Jack shakes his head.

JACK
No. We need to keep going, your leg is bleeding bad now.

RAINA
I know. Just let me catch my breath. You should drink something, or eat.

Jack stands up, walking a few feet away from Raina, who lays her head back on the road. Jack takes off the backpack, pulling out the walkie talkie.

JACK
Ryker? I don't think Raina can go any farther. Where are you?

Silence fills the air for a few seconds before Ryker's voice crackles through the speaker.

RYKER
I just got to Marengo. I think I'm about a half mile away from I-71. I'm on Cardinal Drive.

JACK
Okay. Which side of the highway is that?

RYKER
I don't know, Jack. Just stay where you are, I'll find you soon.

Jack puts the walkie talkie away, waking towards Raina.

JACK
Rai?

Raina opens her eyes, looking up at Jack.

JACK
I'm gonna find help. Stay here.

Raina sits up, using her elbows for support.

RAINA
What? No. You're staying here Jack.

Created using Celtx

We'll get going soon, I just need a break.

Jack shakes his head. He grabs the knife from Raina's belt. He looks around, noting that they are near an old Shell gas station. Jack walks past Raina, to the other side of the highway.

Jack! Get back here.

Jack ignores Raina, walking forward.

RAINA
Jack!

Raina tries to stand up, only to fall back down. She closes her eyes shut, dropping her head down.

EXT. CARDINAL DRIVE- DAY

Jack looks around as he walks, Raina's knife in his hand, her backpack on his back. He pulls the walkie talkie out.

JACK
Ryker, I'm on Cardinal Drive. What's around you?

RYKER
I just past an old Taco Bell.

JACK
Oh! I see it.

A run down, faded Taco Bell sign sits above the trees a little ways away from Jack.

RYKER
Stay there, Jack. I'll find you, okay?

JACK
Okay.

Jack puts the walkie talkie in the bag. Looking around his surroundings. A small berry bush sits across the road. Jack walks to it, picking a berry. He squishes the berry between his fingers, rubbing it on his forearm.

He stares at his arm, waiting for a moment. When nothing happens to his arm, he picks more berries, eating them by the handfuls. Jack is too distracted by the berries to hear the footsteps behind him.

RYKER
Jack.

Jack drops the berries, quickly turning around and holding his arms in front of him, standing in the fighting stance Raina taught him. Ryker holds his hands up in surrender.

Jack looks at Ryker with relieved eyes. He walks to Ryker, hugging him tightly. Ryker hugs him back, ruffling his hair.

RYKER
Can you take me to Raina?

Jack nods, taking Ryker's hand and leading him to the other side of the highway.

EXT. DOWNTOWN MARENGO- DAY

Raina sits up by her elbows. Her eyes scan the area, looking for Jack. When she sees him walking in the distance she huffs angrily.

RAINA
Jack, I told you to stay here. You could've gotten hurt!

Jack ignores her, walking closer with Ryker next to him. Ryker smiles at Raina, kneeling down next to her and taking his backpack off.

Hey beautiful.

Raina rolls her eyes, looking to Jack.

RAINA
(to Jack)
Please listen to me next time.

JACK
I'll think about it.

Jack smiles at Raina, sitting next to Ryker. Ryker pulls out a bandage from his bag, along with a flask. Raina watches Ryker as he moves her leg close to him, gently unwrapping the blanket.

He sets the bloody blanket to the side. Jack looks at his blanket, his eyes saddening at the stained fabric. Ryker looks to Jack, seeing his focus.

Created using Celtx

RYKER
Jack, do you have any water in your backpack?

Jack nods his head, opening the bag and pulling out a half-full water bottle. Ryker smiles, taking the bottle from him. Ryker meets Raina's eyes, nodding at her before pouring the water on her wound.

Raina closes her eyes. The water washes most of the blood off her leg, revealing the wound.

RYKER
They got you pretty good. What happened?

Ryker tears a part of his shirt off, pouring the contents from the flask onto it.

RAINA
That group. The ones in the woods. They followed us. They took m-

Ryker puts the alcohol covered t-shirt on Raina's wound, causing her to take a sharp breath. She grits her teeth together, squeezing her eyes. Ryker laughs slightly, putting pressure on her leg.

He takes the fabric off, picking up the bandage he has. Raina opens her eyes, breathing heavily.

RAINA
They took my map.

Ryker nods, wrapping Raina's wound up with the bandage. When he's done, he sits back. Jack looks to Ryker.

JACK
What happened to your group?

RYKER
I don't know. When those people came, I ran.

JACK
Why? What about Charlie? And the kids? What if they needed you?

Created using Celtx

RYKER
It's survival. Sometimes we have to do things we don't necessarily want to do.

Jack looks down at his lap sadly. Raina sits herself up all the way, putting a hand on Jack's shoulder.

RAINA
Ryker did what he had to, buddy.

Jack slowly nods his head. He stands up, walking to his blanket. He picks it up, the fabric stained red. A tear falls down his cheek. Ryker looks up at him.

RYKER
We'll find you a new blanket in the bunker, bud.

JACK
We're never gonna find a bunker.

RYKER
Well that's a poor attitude.

JACK
Raina said we don't know where it is. So why try?

RYKER
Well, as a matter of fact, I know what city the last bunker is in. Charlie always mentioned an area near Columbus. That's something, right?

RAINA
Even if it is there, that still leaves so much space to look through. We'll never find it in time.

Ryker shakes his head, looking at Raina's eyes.

RYKER
Hope. You need to have hope.

Raina stares at him, eyes not moving.

RYKER
We've got each other now, there's some hope in that.

Created using Celtx

Raina slowly nods her head. Jack sits next to them.

JACK
Where is it?

RYKER
Mount Vernon, outside of Columbus. I think we follow 229 east.

Jack nods his head, looking at Raina.

JACK
Let's go then.

Ryker laughs, standing up. He holds his hands out, pulling Raina up beside him. Jack looks to Ryker, who points east at a country road. Jack nods, knife in hand, and walks in the direction.

Ryker begins walking, Raina holding onto him for support. She takes a step, stumbling when she puts weight on her leg. Ryker laughs, squatting down in front of Raina.

RYKER
Come on. Up you go, beautiful.

RAINA
I'm not getting a piggy back ride from you. I'm fine.

Ryker doesn't move from his spot.

RAINA
No.

RYKER
We can either get there today, or we can get there in three days when we can't survive anymore.

Raina sighs, jumping on Ryker's back. Ryker stands up, gently wrapping his arms under Raina's legs. He catches up to Jack, walking next to him. Jack smiles at Raina.

EXT. STATE ROUTE 229- DAY

Ryker glances down at Jack. Raina's head rests on Ryker's shoulder, her eyes closed as deep breaths release from her mouth, asleep.

Created using Celtx

RYKER
(whispers)
You've changed since we last met.

Jack nods his head, continuing to walk.

RYKER
(whispers)
More like Raina.

Jack looks up at Ryker as they walk.

JACK
(whispers)
She taught me how to survive.

RYKER
(whispers)
I can tell.

JACK
(whispers)
Why did you help us?

RYKER
(whispers)
Safer in groups.

JACK
(whispers)
But why?

RYKER
(whispers)
It just is. Not as vulnerable.

JACK
(whispers)
What does vulnerable mean?

RYKER
(whispers)
Like, easy to attack or steal from.

Jack nods his head.

JACK
(whispers)
Then why did you run away from your other group?

Created using Celtx

RYKER
(whispers)
You know, you're a really curious kid.

JACK
(whispers)
I just wanna know why?

RYKER
(whispers)
Well, because. I just did.

JACK
(whispers)
But why?

Ryker sighs, glancing down at Jack.

RYKER
(whispers)
Sometimes it's easier to run from our problems than face them.

JACK
(whispers)
Why did you help us?

RYKER
(whispers)
Because.

JACK
(whispers)
Daddy always said because isn't an answer.

Ryker sighs, turning to Jack.

RYKER
(whispers)
I don't know, I guess I don't like being alone.

JACK
(whispers)
Me either.

They walk in silence, Ryker staring at his feet, Jack looking around. Ryker looks up at the sky, closing his eyes.

RYKER
(whispers)
Growing up I had a lot of friends. I had good parents, good grades, a good home. But I never felt close to anyone. My parents put a lot of pressure on me, from grades to sports. I was their bragging topic. My whole life I was told who to be, so when I left for college life seemed to crash down.

JACK
(whispers)
Why?

RYKER
(whispers)
I didn't know who I was. I was lost. I had no connections from back home. My parents had two other kids to worry about. I went to an Ivy college because I had the grades, and that's where my parents wanted me to go, but I didn't fit in there. I wanted to have fun, make friends, find out who I was. I wanted to make my parents proud. Everyone else just wanted a degree.

JACK
(whispers)
Mommy wanted me to go to college, she said she had a savings account for me.

Ryker smiles at jack, nodding his head.

RYKER
(whispers)
It took two months into freshman year to realize college wasn't for me. I dropped out. And obviously my parents weren't happy. I didn't want to come home a disappointment, be a bad role model for my siblings as they said. So I stayed away, bounced from job to job. I couldn't seem to figure out who I was.

Jack looks up at Ryker, tilting his head slightly.

JACK
(whispers)
Do you now?

RYKER
(whispers)
Not completely.

JACK
(whispers)
Who do you want to be?

RYKER
(whispers)
I guess a good person. A friend? I don't know.

JACK
(whispers)
You're my friend.

Ryker smiles at Jack.

RYKER
(whispers)
I knew I liked you for a reason.

EXT. MOUNT VERNON OUTSIDE COLUMBUS- DAY

They walk in silence for a moment, Raina asleep on Ryker's back. Jack looks around, the sun missing about half of its mass. The sun seems smaller now.

JACK
(whispers)
Is the sun running away?

Ryker looks down at Jack, chuckling at his question.

RYKER
(whispers)
Sort of.

JACK
(whispers)
Why?

RYKER
(whispers)
He got old, decided it was his time. He aged a little faster than they thought.

JACK
(whispers)
Who's they?

RYKER
(whispers)
Scientist. They found the first signs a few years ago, early enough to give us some time to prepare.

Jack nods his head, walking past an old bank.

JACK
(whispers)
But why is the earth mad? Why are things dying?

RYKER
(whispers)
Well, the sun controls a lot of things on earth. Like the temperature, and the orbit-

JACK
(whispers)
Orbit?

RYKER
(whispers)
The earth circles the sun constantly. So when the sun started dying things started changing, like the magnetic field and the temperature.

Jack nods his head, satisfied with the answer.

JACK
(whispers)
Where do you think the bunkers at?

Ryker shrugs his shoulders, glancing down at Jack.

RYKER
(whispers)
Maybe a building? Or a warehouse? I don't know.

EXT. MOUNT VERNON OUTSIDE COLUMBUS- NIGHT

Raina's eyes are open, looking around as she sits on Ryker's back. The group walks up to a large building in the city. Jack opens the door, knife in hand.

Ryker follows, setting Raina down on the floor. She nods at him. Ryker leaves her, checking the building. Jack checks the rooms opposite to Ryker, knife in hand, his other hand in front of his face.

It's clear over here.

JACK
Same.

The boys meet back at Raina, Ryker sitting next to her. Jack stays standing, looking around the building. Jack pulls out water and food from the backpack, handing it to Ryker and Raina.

Raina smiles at him, a proud look in her eyes. Ryker glances at Raina, smiling. Jack turns around, walking around the floor.

RAINA
Where are you going?

JACK
Looking around.

RAINA
That's n-

Raina pauses, staring at Jack. She takes a deep breath, closing her eyes.

RAINA
Okay. Just be careful.

Jack nods his head, turning into one of the rooms. The room is bare, cardboard boxes are scattered around the floor. A large metal door sits in the corner of the room.

Jack walks towards the door, hand brushing against the wall as he walks. When he gets to the door, he tugs on it. The door doesn't budge. Jack tries again, using all his strength to pull. The door opens, a CREAKING sound coming from the hinges.

Created using Celtx

Jack waves his hand in front of his face as dust floats through the air. A set of stairs go downwards from the door. A dark room lies below. Jack pulls out a flashlight from the backpack, turning it on.

The flashlight flickers for a moment before turning on. Jack slowly makes his way down the stairs, knife in one hand, flashlight in the other.

He reaches the bottom on the stairs, shining the flashlight around. The floor is bare. Nothing is on the walls except for 'MV B.8' written in white inside a red square.

Jack tilts his head, walking up to the square. He runs his hand against it, leaving a trail of his fingers in the dust. He turns around, shining the light.

Jack glances down, the light focusing on a metal handle on the floor in the corner of the room. Jack walks up to it, putting his knife away.

He sits on his knees, putting the flashlight in his armpit so he can use both hands. A large metal square sits behind the handle, attached at the end. Jack puts both hands on the handle, tugging at it.

The door doesn't move. Jack tries again, grunting when he pulls. The door moves slightly, lifting up before going back down. Jack's eyes widen. His mouth slowly falls open.

He quickly stands up, leaving all his supplies on the ground before running back up the stairs. He sprints into the main room where Raina and Ryker sit. They both snap their heads up at him, worry filling their eyes.

JACK
(excited)
I found it! Come on! Come on!

Ryker stands up walking to Jack.

RYKER
Calm down, what did you find?

JACK
The bunker! I found the bunker! Come on!

Ryker looks back to Raina who stares at him with wide eyes. Jack starts tugging Ryker's hand towards the room. Ryker looks back at Jack.

Created using Celtx

RYKER
Okay, okay. Hold on.

Ryker walks to Raina, bending down to pick her up.

RAINA
I can walk.

Ryker nods, helping her stand, putting her arm over his shoulders and helping her walk. They follow Jack to the room and down the stairs.

Ryker and Raina stop walking when they reach the handle. Both their faces fill with surprise and hope. Ryker laughs in disbelief, a large smile on his face.

RYKER
Jack. Holy shit you found it!

Ryker picks Jack up in a hug, swinging him around. Jack laughs loudly. Raina stands in shock, her mouth open. A smile slowly spreads on her face.

Ryker bends down, both hands on the handle, and yanks the door open. Another stair case leads down to a door. Ryker looks back to Jack and Raina, who all nod their heads.

The group goes down the stairs, stopping at the door. The door is flat on the outside, no handle. Raina takes a deep breath. She raises her hand and pounds on the door. Silence fills the air.

The door slowly opens, light shining onto the trio. A large group of people stand behind the door, five people in front holding guns.

EXT. MOUNT VERNON OUTSIDE COLUMBUS- NIGHT

Jeremy, Sam, and Noah sit on the side of the road, eating. Tension fills the air, no one is talking. Noah glares at Jeremy while eating, Sam avoids eye contact.

Jeremy stands up, wiping his hands on his pants. As soon as Jeremy stands up, Noah jumps up from his spot. Noah abruptly punches Jeremy in the face, causes the bigger man to stumble back from surprise.

Jeremy holds onto his face, a shocked look forming. Noah goes for Jeremy again, this time punching his stomach. Sam stands up, going behind Jeremy.

Created using Celtx

Jeremy is prepared this time, grabbing Noah's fist as he tries to punch him. Jeremy twists his arm, swinging his leg into Noah's, causing the man to fall to the ground.

Jeremy kicks Noah roughly, making the man groan. Jeremy turns to Sam, tilting his head. Sam glares at him.

JEREMY
What's this about?

SAM
You've been keeping something from us.

Jeremy squints his eyes, confused. Noah gets back up, pulling Jeremy into a chokehold. Jeremy quickly throws his head back into Noah's nose. Noah drops him, blood coming out of his nose.

Jeremy turns around, punching him in the face. Noah stumbles, caught off guard. Jeremy punches him again, causing Noah to fall, hitting his head on the road. Noah is knocked out.

Jeremy turns back to Sam, who has a knife in her hand. Jeremy holds his hands up.

JEREMY
Calm down. We can work this out.

Sam shakes her head aggressively.

SAM
No. No, we can't. You kept those tickets from us.

JEREMY
Tickets?

SAM
Yes, tickets! The ones in your pocket, to the bunker.

A look of realization spans over Jeremy's face. He looks at Sam sympathetically.

JEREMY
Look, I didn't know what to do, okay? I never planned for you two to join me.

SAM
What were you gonna do? Kill us?

JEREMY
No. Of course not. I don't know, I guess I was just gonna leave.

Sam slowly walks closer to Jeremy, knife held in front of her.

SAM
You used us. To get that map.

JEREMY
I had to!

SAM
You used us, and then you were gonna leave us for dead.

JEREMY
I'm sorry! Put the knife down and we can talk.

Sam walks closer, a threatening look on her face.

SAM
No. You're going to give me those tickets and then you're going to stay here while we go to that bunker.

Jeremy hangs his head, sighing.

JEREMY
I can't do that.

Sam attacks Jeremy. She swings the knife at his chest. Jeremy jumps out of the way, hitting her arm trying to get the knife away.

Sam grunts, swinging the knife again. The blade grazes Jeremy's arm, drawing blood. Jeremy breaths heavily, staring at Sam.

Sam runs towards him, her head dropped as she tries to tackle him. Jeremy grabs her shoulders, lifting her up enough to wrap one arm around her neck and the other around her arm with the knife.

Sam continues to struggle. Jeremy holds tighter, looking down at Sam.

JEREMY
Stop. Let go of it.

Created using Celtx

Sam grunts. Jeremy squeezes her tighter.

JEREMY
Sam, please let go.

Sam struggles again, causing Jeremy to sigh. He yanks her arm back, dislocating her shoulder. Sam drops the knife, her other hand grabbing her shoulder.

Sam falls to the ground in pain. Jeremy grabs the knife, going to their things. He picks up the map, glancing back at Sam who lays in pain, and Noah who is knocked out.

Sam looks up at Jeremy with tears in her eyes, distress on her face. Jeremy gives her a sad look.

JEREMY
I'm sorry. I have to find her.

He turns and walks in the direction of the bunker.

INT. MV B.8- NIGHT

Raina, Ryker, and Jack stand in front of the guards, staring at the large group of people behind them. Jack stands behind Raina and Ryker, scared of the guns.

Ryker holds up his hands, causing Raina to do the same.

GUARD
Tickets?

Raina glances to Ryker, fear in her eyes. Ryker looks at her before looking at the guards.

RYKER
Uh, we don't- we don't have any tickets.

GUARD
No tickets, no stay.

Come on. There's barely anyone left out there. You have the room.

The ships don't.

GUARD
I don't make the rules. Either find a ticket or leave.

RYKER
We have no where else to go. Just let us stay.

A wave of anger washes over Ryker's face, his cheeks turning red. He takes a step towards the guard.

RYKER
Now you're being a dick. Why don't you g-

GUARDS

A guard roughly grabs Ryker, the others guiding Raina and Jack away. Jack begins crying. Raina struggles, turning around in the grip.

RAINA
Please! Please! We have a kid with us! Please just let him stay! He's only six!

Jack cries, making tears slide down Raina's cheeks. The guard stares at them, no emotion on his face. Raina looks at Jack, looking back at the guard.

Her face is red, veins popping out of her neck as she yells. Tears fall down her face.

RAINA
Just take him! Please!

Jack screams as a guard moves him towards the door. Raina looks at him before yelling.

RAINA
(to the guard)
Let him go!

Jack kicks his feet, trying to break free.

RAINA
Jack!

Jack bites the hand of the guard, causing him to get released. Jack runs to Raina, hugging her tight. A WOMAN yells through the crowd, causing everyone to quiet.

JACK'S MOM
Jack! Jack!

Her voice gets louder as she reaches the front of the crowd. A woman pushes past the guards and runs up to Jack. She is tall, blonde hair, hazel eyes and freckles. She's in her mid-30s.

Jack looks up from Raina, running towards the woman.

JACK Momma!

Raina looks up in shock as Jack hugs his mother. The guard lets go of Ryker, who stands still. They all watch as Jack cries into his mother's shoulder. She rubs his back, burying her nose into his hair.

JACK'S MOM
(comforting Jack)
It's okay.

Raina looks at Ryker, who slowly walks up to her. Jack pulls away from his mother. Raina and Ryker cannot hear what they are saying. Jack's mother squats down to Jack's height. She pulls out a ticket from her pocket, handing it to Jack.

JACK'S MOM
I've been saving this one for you.

Jack looks up at his mom with confused eyes.

JACK
How did you know I would find you?

JACK'S MOM
Hope.

She smiles at her son, nudging him towards the guards. Jack approaches the guards, getting ready to hand them the tickets. Before giving his ticket he glances at Raina and Ryker.

Jack suddenly runs to Raina and Ryker, his mother tilting her head. Jack stands in front of Raina, a sad look on his face. His mother comes up behind him, putting her hands on his shoulders.

JACK'S MOM
Are these your friends?

Jack nods his head, tears building in his eyes. His mother smiles at Raina and Ryker.

JACK'S MOM
Thank you for taking care of my boy.

GAURD
Is he using his ticket or not?

Ryker turns to the guard.

RYKER
Could you shut up and gives us a moment, please?

Ryker smiles, Raina nods her head. Jack turns around, looking up at his mom.

JACK
Do we have tickets for them?

Jack's mom sucks in a breath, gently shaking her head no. Jack lets a few tears down his cheeks, turning back to Raina. He stays in his spot, crying.

Raina crouches down, her hands on Jack's shoulders. Jack stares at his feet. Raina lifts his head up with her hand.

RAINA
It's okay, buddy. We're gonna be okay.

JACK
Please don't leave.

RAINA
We can't stay, bud.

Jack looks back down at his feet, making Raina lift his head up again.

RAINA
But hey, you found your mom. You're gonna have the best life ever. I promise.

Raina brushes his hair out of his face.

RAINA
You're gonna make so many friends. And when this is all over, I'm sure you'll finally get to start school.

JACK
(whispers)
But you aren't gonna get to finish it.

Raina looks at him sadly, pulling him tightly into a hug.

RAINA
(whispers)
I love you, Jack.

Raina smiles into Jack's shoulder, tears falling down her cheeks.

RAINA
(whispers)
Get that labradoodle for me, okay?

Jack nods his head, pulling back and wiping his tears. Raina stands up, smiling at Jack's mom. Jack walks up to Ryker, hugging his legs. Ryker bends down, fist bumping Jack.

RYKER
Stay brave, little dude.

Jack nods his head before walking back to his mom, holding onto her leg. She moves him to the guard, who he hands his ticket to.

Raina and Ryker stay in their spots, watching Jack get checked in. Jack turns to them, staring with sad eyes. Raina and Ryker walk to the door, Raina's hand hovering over the handle.

Ryker waves goodbye to Jack, smiling at him. Jack waves back, his mother standing next to him, rubbing his back. Raina squeezes her eyes shut, turning the handle on the door.

The pair stands up, about to leave, hands hovering the door handle. A knock ECHOS on the door. The guards walk to it, pushing past Raina and Ryker, turning the handle.

The bunker door opens again, making the group jump. The guard quickly hold up their guns, pointing them to the visitor.

Jeremy stands in the door way, nothing but a knife and a map in his hands. Raina and Ryker look at him with scared faces, backing away.

Jeremy holds his arms up, frantically looking around the room.

GUARD
Drop your weapon.

Jeremy drops the knife and map to the ground, eyes quickly scanning the room.

GUARD
Ticket?

Jeremy moves forward, trying to walk into the crowd. The guards stop him, pulling him back and pointing their guns towards him.

Jeremy sees Raina and Ryker. They stare with scared eyes, getting closer to Jack.

JEREMY
I don't wanna hurt you. I just wanna find my daughter.

Raina furrows her eyebrows, staring at Jeremy with a confused look. Jeremy turns back to the guards.

JEREMY
Do you have a Lilly Miller?

The guard opens the guest book, looking through the tickets. Each ticket sits next to a name and personal information. He flips the page. He flips the page again. He gets to the end of the book and the shuts it.

GUARD
No. She's not down here.

Jeremy's shoulders deflate, a frown across his face. He squeezes his eyes shut.

JEREMY
Are you sure? Can you double check please?

The guard rolls his eyes.

GUARD
She's not down here, sir.

JEREMY
She's 19, brown hair, brown eyes. She has a lisp with her s's, and she can't pronounce the word rural very well.

The guard shakes his head.

GUARD
She isn't here, sir. Do you have a ticket?

Jeremy drops his head. He brings his face to his hands, his body freezing. Raina and Ryker look to each other.

GUARD
Sir, if you don't have a ticket you need to leave.

JEREMY
She has to be down here. She has to be.

Raina looks at Jeremy, her eyes saddening.

JEREMY
I can't- she needs to be down here.

INT. BUILDING SURROUNDING BUNKER- NIGHT

Raina and Ryker sit against the wall next to the bunker door. Raina has her head in her hands, knees to her chest. Ryker leans his head against the wall, staring at the ceiling.

RYKER
So, what now?

Raina scuffs, glaring at Ryker.

RAINA
Oh, so now you don't have a plan.

RYKER
I'm sorry.

Raina meets Ryker's eyes, nodding at him, accepting his apology.

RAINA
Thank you. For helping us.

RYKER
You don't need to thank me.

RAINA
No. You did a lot for me. So thank you.

Ryker nods at her, scooting closer. He cracks a smile at her.

RYKER
So, did you ever think you would be spending your last moments with some stranger you met a few days ago?

Raina chuckles, looking at Ryker and shaking her head no.

Created using Celtx

RAINA
Definitely not. Did you ever think you would die from the sun?

RYKER
Never in a million years.

Raina smiles at him. Outside the warehouse a meteor hits the ground. The ground shakes, a large crack forming in the street. The building shakes, a few pieces of the roof falling in the corner.

RAINA
I hope he's up there.

Ryker nods, glancing at Raina.

RYKER
I'm sure he is.

Raina and Ryker sit quietly, watching the outside. The sky slowly gets darker outside, snow falling heavier. The door next to them opens. CREAKING ECHOS through the building. Their heads snap towards it.

Jeremy exits the door. His head hung low, dog tags dangling from his neck. His hand holds onto two crumbled tickets. He walks up to Raina and Ryker, holding the tickets out.

JEREMY
Take 'em.

Raina and Ryker look at him confused, not moving.

JEREMY
Come on. You don't have much time left.

JEREMY
I've lived enough, been through enough happy times, enough sad times. I'm not gonna save myself without Lilly. You two still have a life to live.

Raina looks at Jeremy with sad eyes.

RAINA
(whispers)
Thank you.

Jeremy nods his head. He looks outside again, before looking back at Raina.

JEREMY
If she's up there, in a ship-

Raina nods before Jeremy can finish his sentence.

RAINA
I'll find her, and watch over her. And I'll tell her about you. About what you did.

JEREMY
(whispers)
Just tell her I love her. I'm no hero. I just need you to tell her I love her.

Raina nods her head, smiling at Jeremy. He takes a deep breath.

JEREMY

Raina smiles at the thought of Jack. Jeremy smiles at her, stepping closer to her. He holds out his hand, Raina takes it, shaking it firmly.

JEREMY
Go live your life.

Raina nods her head, grabbing Ryker's hand and walking to the bunker door. They open it and go down the stairs, knocking on the door.

Jeremy walks to the outside of the building, sitting against the wall. He holds his dog tags in his hands, staring at the sky. One dog tag is inscribed with his information, the other inscribed with Lilly's name.

The door opens, guards holding guns. Ryker immediately holds the tickets out. The guard grabs them, nodding at Ryker and Raina. The other guards drop their guns, letting the pair enter the bunker fully.

Tables and chairs are scattered through the bunker. A long hallway lays at the back of the bunker, doors scattered on the walls.

A tv sits in the corner of the main room, two couches in front of it. An open door reveals a kitchen. Lights cover the ceiling, masking everything in a bright yellow.

People sit at the tables, eating potatoes and rice. A water dispenser sits against the wall. People laugh, talking loudly.

INT. BEDROOM IN BUNKER- NIGHT

Raina sits on a twin sized bed, Ryker on the twin sized bed opposite of her. Ryker reads a book titled 'The Journey To Inhabiting The Next Galaxy'.

RAINA
Would you ever get a dog?

Ryker looks up from his book, smiling.

RYKER
I'm more of a cat person.

Raina wears a face of shock as she throws her pillow at Ryker. He hits the pillow away, picking it up and throwing it back at her. Raina giggles, catching the pillow. She stares at him.

RAINA
Maybe this is a chance for a stable life. A re-do. To be whoever we want.

RYKER
Who are you going to be?

RAINA
I don't know yet.

RYKER
No longer alone?

To new beginnings.

RAINA
To new beginnings.

INT. LIVING ROOM OF BUNKER- DAY

Raina sits on the couch, head rested against Ryker's shoulder. Ryker's arm is wrapped around her. Raina's hair is freshly washed, laying untouched down her back. Her face is clean.

She wears a new t-shirt, clean and bright. She wears sweatpants, a new pair of socks on her feet.

Jack is cuddled against his mom on the couch next to them. His mom is smiling, running her hands through his hair. A blanket lays over the two. His blisters are almost healed, socks on his feet.

'Where The Wild Things Are' plays on the tv. Raina watches with a smile on her face. Jack quietly tells his mom about the adventures he went on.

JACK
(excitedly)
And then I learned how to swim!

Jack's mom smiles, laughing at his stories. A guard runs in the living room, out of breath. A huge smile is plastered on his face.
